NO Fluctuations or Worry

Whenever a speculative security moves a few points downward in the market quotations, it's apt to cause holders a lot of lost sleep and worry. Besides these unpleasantries, if the pressure for money becomes urgent, the security must often be sold at a financial loss.

Why not eliminate the danger of losses in sleep and money in favor of absolute safety by investing in our certificates of deposit. Our certificates never fluctuate in value, mature quickly and are easily transferable when ready money is needed.

TEARS REPLACE CHEERS AS MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD FOR BAYLOR VICTIMS OF CRASH

By Associated Press.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 24.—Tears took the place of college cheers and throats from which shrill cries of exultation at athletic prowess once were heard, gave only sobs of grief today as memorial services and arrangements for funerals echoed the Baylor University bus crash at Round Rock Saturday.

While tribute was being paid in Baylor chapel to the memories of ten young men, basket ball players, some of them Southwestern conference football stars, preparations were made for their funeral services Monday afternoon.

Joint services for the three Waco boys who met their death in the tragedy will be held at Baylor University at 3 p. m. Monday.

The bodies of Robert Hannah and G. H. Winchester, will be interred at Oakwood, while that of James Kelly will be interred at Park Lawn.

A joint funeral service for Jimmy Walker and Willis Murray will be held Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at their homes in Gatesville. The funeral service of Jack Castellaw was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock from his home at Ennis.

Merle Dudley will be buried from his home at Abilene Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with arrangements in charge of the Laughter Undertaking Company. Edwin Connally, who accompanied the body there from Taylor, and Judge Nat Harris of the Baylor School of Law, will represent Baylor at the funeral.

Sam Dillow's funeral is set for Monday afternoon at 2:30 from his home in Fort Worth.

Robert Hailey was buried Sunday afternoon at Lott ,from the Methodist church of that place.

The funeral of Ivey R. Foster, Jr., was held Sunday afternoon from his home in Taylor.

CONGRESS EXPECTED CONTINUE INTEREST SOUTHERN AFFAIRS

NICARAGUA AND MEXICO STILL HOLD IMPORTANT PLACE IN WASHINGTON

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Promise of another Congressional resolution of inquiry, public appeals by labor, church and college groups in the United States, and a mass meeting in Mexico City at which the Washington government was denounced for its "imperialism" and "invasion of Nicaragua," all served to keep the Mexican-Nicaraguan controversial pot boiling over the week-end.

In a resolution prepared for introduction today, Representative Gallivan, Democrat, of Massachusetts, seeks a thorough inquiry into the Mexican situation, asks the State Department to disclose the financiers of the "pro-Calles propaganda now flooding this country," and declares "we cannot sit tamely by while the red fires are burning up Mexico and creeping closer to our border."

Gallivan asserts in his resolu that "insidious propaganda has actually reached the floor of Congress" and that "at least one member of the staff of the State Department has been discharged following complaint by Ambassador Sheffield that there existed a leak from that department to the Mexican embassy" here.

That American labor hopes the United States will "not play the

S. M. WOODARD OF BLOOMING GROVE DIED IN DALLAS

PROMINENT BANKER AND BUSINESS MAN SUCCUMBS IN DALLAS SANITARIUM

Special to the Sun.

Blooming Grove, Texas, Jan. 24.—S. M. Woodard, age 59 years, banker and prominent business man of this city, died in St. Paul's sanitarium at Dallas Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock with burial at Sulphur Springs, Texas, the body leaving Dallas at noon Monday.

Mr. Woodard is survived by his wife and one son, P. H. Woodard, of this city.

The deceased was one of the leading citizens of this community, always taking an active part in every movement for the advancement of the town. He was a steward in the Methodist church, a Mason and an Odd Fellow.

At the time of his death he was a director in the Citizens National Bank and was cashier of the Blooming Grove State bank four years prior to its consolidation in December with the Citizens National Bank. In addition to his banking connections he was an extensive property owner.

Mr. Woodward was well known in Corsicana, where he frequently visited. Mrs. Woodward was a cousin of the late Albert A. Wortham and she and her husband were guests in the Wortham home here frequently. Many Corsicana friends will extend sincere sympathy to the bereaved wife and son during their hour of sorrow.

INJURED STUDENTS WILL RECOVER SAY PHYSICIANS MONDAY

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD IN BAYLOR CHAPEL FOR TEN CRASH VICTIMS

By Associated Press.

Taylor, Texas, Jan. 24.—The gloom which has hovered over two hospitals here since the crossing accident at Round Rock Saturday which killed ten Baylor University students, was slightly lifted Monday with the announcement that all the injured students will recover.

Fred Acree of Waco, whose chances for recovery for a time was despaired of, will recover, physicians said. He was at first believed to have received a broken back in the crash. Examination showed he suffered no spine fracture, but severe internal injuries.

Edgar Gooch of Ennis, brother of Aubrey Gooch, Texas University football star, is the most seriously injured. He received a dislocated shoulder.

Wesley Bradshaw, Baylor football star in 1922, received scalp wounds and lacerations about the face.

Others confined in a hospital are Gordon Barry of Smithville, badly bruised and suffering from scalp wounds, and Cecil Bean of Grapeland, suffering from scalp wounds.

Joe Potter of West, driver of the death car, who received a cut about the throat, returned to his home in West Sunday.

Coach Ralph Wolfe at first reported uninjured, suffered a bad cut about the head requiring five stitches. He is recovering at the Taylor sanitarium with his mother at his bedside.

Keifer Strickland, who received facial wounds; Louis Slade and Weir Washam, who suffered minor bruises, were released from the sanitarium early Sunday. Dave Cheavens, sport writer for the Baylor Lariat, left Taylor for Waco Saturday after his wounds had been dressed in a downtown office.

A list of the dead and injured in the wreck follows:

APPARENT DANGER CHIEF POINT MADE IN JUDGE'S CHARGE

NORRIS SEVERELY CRITICIZED BY OPENING ATTORNEY FOR STATE MONDAY

By Associated Press.

Court Room, Austin, Texas, Jan. 24.—State and defense closed their testimony in the Norris murder trial at 9:50 a. m. today and the judge began his charge to the jury shortly afterward.

Arguments to the jury are to be limited to six hours to a side.

The chief point in Judge James R. Hamilton's charge to the jury was "apparent danger." He explained that the question of whether Norris was in apparent danger of his life should be viewed from the standpoint of how the circumstances appeared to the defendant. He declared that the defendant was not bound to retreat but under the law had a right to stand and defend himself if attacked.

There are four possible results: A verdict of murder carrying five years to death; manslaughter, two to five years; not guilty; hung jury.

Shelton Opens for State.

The State opened its argument with Attorney John Shelton of Austin, special prosecutor, demanding the death penalty for Norris.

"He has forfeited his right to life and liberty," Shelton told the jury.

Shelton attacked Norris' own testimony, stating that if defendants in murder cases were believed "not a single man would ever be convicted."

He charged that the defense had tried Chipps, but that the only complaint that had been brought against the deceased was that he imbibed liquor.

"Because one man drinks, may another man kill him?" asked Shelton.

He said if witnesses about Chipps' drinking were to be believed, then the "visible supply of liquor in Fort Worth must have gone down 80 per cent."

The only thing ever shown that "poor old Chipps merited death is that he stepped on a negro's foot and took a drink."

Chipps Had No Gun.

"Chipps didn't have a gun, he didn't even have a pocket knife, yet they say he reached for his pocket," Shelton said. "Men don't reach for something they don't have. Isn't it possible Norris induced Chipps to return so he could shoot him in the front instead of the back? Didn't he rig up his self-defense then? If he had shot him in the back it would certainly have been the electric chair for him.

"Norris denied that he had said, 'I've killed me a man' because this was 'foreign to his nature.' It is foreign to his nature? Within 1? hours after he took a human life, standing in what should be the sanctuary of God, while the bells were ringing in his ears from Chipps' funeral, he preached a sermon. Human blood was dripping from his hands, yet he preached about the humble Jesus. Is it foreign to his nature to say 'I've killed me a man?'

"What does it mean to the laws of this state if men who parade in the garments of a minister may take human life and go unpunished?"

Simpson First for Defense.

Attorney Marvin Simpson took up the argument for the defense.

TOTAL GINNINGS TO JANUARY 16 AMOUNT TO 16,609,517 BALES

MORE THAN MILLION AND HALF BALES AHEAD OF LAST YEAR SAME DATE

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Cotton of the 1926 crop ginned prior to January 16 totaled 16,609,517 running bales, counting 611,052 round bales as half bales and excluding linters, the Census Bureau announced today.

Ginnings last year to that date totalled 15,499,839 running bales, including 336,998 round bales, and in 1925 the total was 13,306,813 bales, including 307,351 round bales.

The Department of Agriculture in its preliminary estimate of production based on December 1 conditions placed the crop at 18,618,000 bales of 500 pounds fross weight, the largest crop ever raised. At that time a large amount of cotton still remained to be picked and it was uncertain as to what part of it would be left in the fields in view of the low price prevailing. Until the final government ginning report is issued on March 21 the exact size of the 1926 crop will remain doubtful.

Ginnings by states, to January 16 follow:

Alabama	1,455,310
Arizona	98,136
Arkansas	1,404,186
California	118,093
Florida	32,973

NOTED CONFEDERATE OFFICER DIED WHILE ASLEEP SATURDAY

By Associated Press.

Point Pleasant, W. Va., Jan. 24.—Funeral services for Brigadier General John McCausland, 90 general officer of the Confederate Army, will be held tomorrow. Burial will be in Smith's cemetery at Henderson, near here. General McCausland died in his sleep at his home in McCausland Saturday night.

With his death, the last surviving Confederate general officer is General Felix Robertson of Waco Texas.

Probably the most spectacular of General McCausland's exploits during the Civil War was his command of a raid that ended with the burning of Chambersburg. So bitter was the feeling engendered by this expedition that after the war ended he left the United States and tourned Europe and Mexico for several years. Later he returned and purchased farm lands along the Ohio river near here. where he had lived since. His name also was conspicuously mentioned in the defense of Lynchburg.

"Corsicana Has It."

The Beginning of the New Year

Is a good time to consider the following question:

How much money did you save last year—Does it measure up to your standards, your abilities, your needs?

Surely you can do better the next twelve months. Start today.

The FIRST STATE BANK

TEXAS GRIEVES

The heart of Texas was sorely grieved when the news was flashed over the wires that the bus occupied by the Baylor University Basketball team had been struck by a fast passenger train at a grade crossing near Round Rock and at least ten of the fine young men who composed the team and the personnel of the coaching and managerial staff of the team had been killed just before noon on Saturday.

The catastrophe was so appalling that it was difficult to grasp the magnitude of the tragedy. Ten fine, clean-living, straight shooting young men were killed and several others were injured, some of them seriously. The accident occurred at a grade crossing of a prominent highway and one of the State's leading railroads. The parents and loved ones of those fine young men have the deepest sympathy of the entire citizenship of the State, yet this cannot compensate them for the loss they have suffered.

There is need of greater care in the driving of motor vehicles in Texas and all over the Nation. This is plainly evidenced through the great number of accidents which are chronicled daily wherein the loss of life and the injury to human beings mounts with each succeeding day. Speaking of the accident a short time after it occurred Saturday, Clarence E. Gilmore, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission and president of the Texas Council of Safety, voiced the sentiments of many Texans when he said:

"The unspeakable tragedy at the Round Rock grade crossing today, the most serious accident of its kind ever occurring in the State so far as the records of the Railroad Commission reveal, brings sorrow to every heart in Texas and the sympathy of every human being in the State goes without limit to the loved ones of those fine young men whose promising lives have been brought to such an untimely and tragic end.

"The next most serious accident of the kind occurred at Houston on Nov. 9, 1926, when eight people were killed and sixteen others injured.

"These constantly occurring accidents must demonstrate beyond controversy to every public official, to every railroad official and employe and to every citizen the absolute necessity for concert of action both in matters of legislation and private endeavor to prevent these accidents. To this end and purpose the Texas Council of Safety was organized and it appeals to every citizen of the State to aid in the effort to carry on a campaign of education for greater safety. There is some legislation necessary but a recognition by every individual of the danger, until such time as it is possible to separate all grade crossings, is of paramount importance."

PAY YOUR POLL TAX

Reports from the offices of the county tax collector and the city tax collector are to the effect that the payment of poll taxes are slow this year. The county tax collector reports poll tax payments unusually slow and states that only 3500 poll tax receipts had been issued up to Thursday afternoon against a total of 12,000 last year at the close of the tax paying period, January 31st.

Of course there will be many more poll tax receipts issued during the remaining seven days for payment this year, but the slowness with which prospective voters are securing certificates that will permit them to exercise their right of [illegible] the present year indicates that the payments will fall far below last year.

True, this year is an off year in the State so far as elections are concerned, yet there may be an opportunity to use a poll tax receipt that will be of vital importance to Navarro county and Corsicana. In the city a city election will be held in which several offices will be filled, among them the office of Mayor and two commissioners.

Then there is considerable talk that an opportunity will be presented to voters of the county to put Navarro county among the progressive counties of the State through a bond issue for the building of permanent, hard-surfaced highways. While these plans have not been worked out to the extent that any definite information can be given, there is a tendency on the part of some of the progressive citizens living in every section of the county to urge the calling of another election for the purpose of voting a bond issue sufficient to build a system of concrete cardinal highways that will be made a part of the great highway system of the State and Nation.

This is enough to impress upon the progressive and forward looking voter the fact that it would be well to be the possessor of a poll tax receipt for this year and not be disfranchised in case such an election should be called.

FIRST SCHOOL TERM ENDS

The first term of the present school year ends with today and there is great joy in many young hearts as the result of having been rewarded for the faithful and diligent work done during the first semester by notification that they have passed the required tests and are therefore entitled to advance to a higher grade or classification. There are some, of course, who did not receive such notice and therefore they are not as happy as those who passed in their studies.

According to reports from pupils, teachers and school heads the Fall term has been a most successful one and the Spring term beginning Monday is expected to be even more successful for the reason that conditions will be made more easy for the imparting of knowledge to the children on account of the completion and occupation early in the new term of another large and modern school building. The completion of this building will relieve the crowded conditions in other schools of the city and will enable all within the scholastic age to receive the attention that has been impossible heretofore on account of the crowded conditions in some of the rooms.

According to announcement a number of new pupils in the lower grade will be taken at the beginning of the new term, something that has been impossible also in previous years for the reason announced—that of the crowded condition of the lower grades in the several buildings of the city schools. Teachers and pupils alike feel that the last semester was a most successful one and they are all looking forward to the next term with high hopes of making it even a greater success.

WARNING TO FARMERS

Word comes from no less an authority than Clarence Ousley, head of the Texas Safe Farming Association, that to date efforts on the part of bankers, associations and individuals to retire the 1926 cotton crop from the market has amounted to "practically nothing."

The Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association and the bankers of the State offered means to retire one million bales of this year's cotton crop until better prices prevail but negotiations for the retirement of approximately 100 bales has been the sole result of these offers, Mr. Ousley stated before delegates to the seventh annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation in session in Dallas Wednesday of this week, in arguing the need of more co-operation among farmers.

Mr. Ousley also stated that efforts to organize cotton reduction committees in two hundred Texas counties had resulted so far in the organization work having been successful in only two counties of the State, Hill and Grimes counties. This is considered a very poor showing of interest in the matter.

The warning that lurks in the above statements is that farmers do not seem to realize the importance of some concerted move that will absolutely guarantee the reduction of the cotton acreage in Texas to a point where the farmers will be enabled to demand and receive a fair price for their product.

There is no dodging the fact that there is only one solution to the whole matter. The solution lies in the raising of various products that are consumed on the farm and each farmer living at home in so far as it is possible for him to do. At the same time there should be raised sufficient products of the farm garden, poultry yard and dairy to be marketed throughout the year, thus not only supplying the home, but creating a cash income throughout every week in the year. Experience has taught that this cannot be done where a large acreage on every farm is devoted to the raising of cotton. Cotton demands much attentin and is costly to raise and if the price is low, there is no money in cotton for the producer.

Farmers should study this matter before the time for planting another crop arrives and act accordingly. Their future prosperity and therefore their future happiness depends on their decision in this matter. Also it can truly be stated the prosperity of the entire State depends on their decision.

SURRENDER OF 76 REBELS ANNOUNCED BY MEX GOVERNMENT

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Jan. 22.—Announcement of the surrender of 76 rebels and official denial of reports that the army was to be increased from 50,000 to 75,000 men, are the late developments of the revolutionary activities, which are believed to be subsiding rapidly.

Sixteen rebels operating in the Ajusco mountains of the Federal district have surrendered, while General Escobar reports that sixty more have submitted in Durango. These submissions, he says, are due to his promise that all rebels surrendering within ten days will be pardoned.

Dispatches from Tierra Blanca, Vera Cruz, say one person was killed and four were wounded in a clash between railway strikers and strike breakers. Federal troops were forced to charge with bayonets to restoe odeetaoni rA onets to restore order.

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Jan. 22.—Between 8,000 and 10,000 foreigners had complied with the new alien land law up to midnight last night when the term for foreigners to register a declaration of their land ownership with the authorities expired.

Foreign Minister Saenez declares that the provisions of the law will be applied to those foreigners who failed to register. The registration department at the foreign office remained open until midnight for the late hour rush. The exact figures regarding registrations, it was said, would be announced later.

SAFE FARMING

Agricultural Program for the South

PROSPERITY among southern farmers will be widespread and permanent and contentment abound only when the safe-farming methods so long known and advocated become general thruout the South. They are:

Grow Ample Food to Feed the Family.

Have a good summer and a winter garden.

Grow all the pork needed for home use.

Keep enough cows to fully supply all family needs.

Raise all the poultry and eggs the family can use and some to sell.

Grow cane of sorghum for sirup where practicable.

Grow All the Feed Needed.

Make the purchase of feed for the work stock, poultry, hogs, and cows unnecessary---a penny saved is worth two earned.

Keep Up the Fertility of the Soil .

Grow cowpeas, vetch, soy beans, or other legumes to plow under.

Sow rye, wheat or oats in corn and cotton fields for pasture and to prevent winter washing and leaching.

Plant High Yielding Quality Cotton and care for it well·

Cooperate in reducing the number of varieties grown and in the orderly marketing of the crop.

ONE-FOURTH LESS COTTON ACREAGE IN 1927, WITH AVERAGE YIELDS AND PRESENT SURPLUS WOULD MORE THAN SUPPLY AVERAGE REQUIREMENTS. WHY PLANT MORE?

The farmer who follows the above plan will have a good living; keep out of debt; and have something left over at the end of each year. To aid you in the safe-farming program you have your---

COTTON MARKETING STUDIED BY EXPERT IN ECONOMIC LINE

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS MAN AUTHOR OF TWO GOVERNMENT BULLETINS

Special to the Sun.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The first of two comprehensive studies of cotton marketing has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture. Dr. A. B. Cox, formerly agricultural economist of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, now Director of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, has made a study of demand and supply and of the marketing machinery which has been built up to bring these factors into trading relations.

"Since a considerable portion of the year's crop is often placed even before it is grown," says Doctor Cox, "it is possible to anticipate the demands of spinners with a fair degree of accuracy. Pertinent facts should be made available to growers, so they may more closely co-ordinate the volume and the quality of their production to the demands of the market."

In measuring the world demand for raw cotton, statistics on the activity spindles are important indicators, though "counts" of yarn spun should be taken into account when determining consumption per spindle. A more significant indicator than mill consumption, however, is founded on the economic conditions prevailing in the country which ultimately consumes the cotton goods.

"The world's supply of cotton for price-making purposes," says Doctor Cox, "is an aggregate made up from three crops: "This year's crop, the carryover from the previous year and the anticipated amount of the next crop.

The thousands of markets, large and small, which handle American cotton are classified from the standpoint of economic services performed as: (1) spinners' markets, (2) futures markets, (3) centralizing spot markets, and (4) local or primary markets.

It is customary to think of the marketing of cotton as beginning with the farmer and ending with the spinner, but Doctor Cox points out that the time sequence, is, in reality, the reverse. The discussion tion of the several types of markets therefore, leads one from the placing of the spinners order to the purchase o the cotton from the grower.

The markets and their functions are discussed at some length and special attention is given to price-making forces and movements. The location, personnel, and organization of the several types of markets are described, together with their methods of procedure and the services performed. In discussing the functions of these markets Doctor Cox says:

(1) Spinners' markets exist primarily to supply spinners' needs, the cotton being offered for sale in even-running lots of 50 or 100 bales or multiples.

(2) Futures markets are essentially price-making and price-insuring instrumentalities.

(3) Central spot markets are the great reservoirs of spot cotton through which passes on its way to the spinner nearly every bale of cotton grown.

(4) Local or primary markets are those in which the grower bargains individually in the sale of his cotton.

Several brief and concise compilations of pertinent data are furnished supporting the statements made, and the discussion is further elucidated by charts showing relationships and trends.

Copies of the publication, entitled Department Bulletin No. 1444-D, "Cotton Prices and Markets," may be obtained by writing the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

INFORMATION FOR BAPTISTS REGARDING CHURCH RALLIES

MEETINGS WILL BE HELD AT VARIOUS PLACES OVER NAVARRO COUNTY

Following the instruction of the pastors and members present in the Associational Workers' Meeting and Conquest Campaign Rally at Corsicana, January 17, we suggest the following plan for our church rallies.

Dates and places of Rallies:

Zone No. 1.

Tuesday, February, 8th. McKie Memorial.

Thursday, February 10th. Chatfield.

Friday, February 11th. Round Prairie.

Churches in Zone No. 1—Kerens, Bazette, Round Prairie, Roane, Chatfield, and McKie Memorial.

Zone No. 2.

Tuesday, February 1st. Philip's Chapel.

Wednesday, February 2nd. Mildred.

Thursday, February 3rd. Richland.

Friday, February 4th. Angus.

Churches in Zone No. 2—First, Corsicana; Philips Chapel, Mildred, Angus, Richland.

Zone No. 3.

Sunday, February 13th. Frost.

Monday, February 14th. Dawson.

Tuesday, February 15th. Navarro Mills.

Wednesday, February 16th. Blooming Grove.

Thursday, February 17th. Shiloh.

Friday, February 18th. Rehoboth.

We suggest that the following plan of program be carried out in each rally:

10:00 a. m.—Song and praise, 20 minutes.

10:20 a. m.—The purpose of these rallies, 5 minutes.

10:25 a. m.—History of the Conquest Campaign to date, 10 minutes.

10:35 a. m.—Our Debts:

1. What we owe, 10 minutes.

FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS OFFERED FOR PRIZE ESSAYS

PURPOSE IS TO BRING WOODROW WILSON'S IDEALS BEFORE YOUNG PEOPLE

Fifty Thousand Dollars in prize money for the best articles of 2500 words on "What Woodrow Wilson Means to Me" will be offered by the Woodrow Wilson Essay Awards committee, according to details of the plan received at the Chamber of Commerce.

The letter explains that the contest should be of particular interest to Chambers of Commerce throughout the country because it has to deal with the subject of better citizenship, the goal toward which every Chamber is working. The Contest is open to young men and women of America between the ages of 20 and 35 and must be received at the New York office of the Wilson Foundation on or before October 1st, 1927.

Full details of the plan and requirements of the essays may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce.

In a letter outlining the essay plan Francis R. Bellamy, the executive Director, says: "The sole aim of the contest is to bring Wilson's ideals and principles before the young people of America. Politics aside, Wilson was a unique personality. His ideas were stimulating and arresting. Before he became President he made a lifelong study of American history and government. And he had the priceless gift of expression. The result is a series of political and literary papers which form part of America's best heritage. To read them today is to get a liberal education in both the theory and practice of American representative government."

IN MEMORIAM

Lottie Ida Freeman (nee Dixon) was born June 4, 1906, near Waxahachie. She was the daughter of C. L. and Arvilla Dixon. She was married to Jim Freeman, November 7, 1925. She departed this life at 11:30 p. m., January 16, 1927. She was not thought to be seriously ill until about 8 o'clock Sunday morning when she suddenly became unconscious and never regained consciousness. All was done for her that tender loving hands could do but to no avail.

She was the oldest of nine children and was loved as only a loving unselfish sister can be. She was an obedient and loving daughter always ready to help her mother care for her large family. She was a most devoted and affectionate wife and will be greatly missed by her heart-broken husband who cared for her so tenderly through her last illness.

That she was loved by all was shown by the large crowd who came to pay their last tribute of respect to her memory. She was laid to rest in the Pattison cemetery beneath a flower covered mound, on Monday afternoon, January 17. The funeral was conducted by Rev. L. B. Jenkins, assisted by Rev. Morrison and H. C. DeKusha. She was a great lover of music and good singing and it seemed quite fitting that sweet songs should be sung as she was laid to rest.

We cannot see as yet why one so young and whose life seemed so full of happiness should be called but we know that some day we will join hands with her around the Great White Throne where there will be no more sorrow and farewells are never said. We would say in the language of the song:

Thou art gone our precious darl'ng,
Nevermore canst thou return.
Thou shall sleep a peaceful slumber
'Till the resurrection morn.

To the heart-broken husband and bereaved parents we would say, weep not as those who have no hope but look forward to the resurrection morn and that glad reunion on the other side.

Written by one who loved her.

part of an imperialistic autocrat in its relations with Latin-American countries, but will prove itself to be, by practice and precept, an advocate and proponent of the ideals of self-government and democratic freedom," is an assertion made by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an article appearin' in the American Federationist.

The administrative committee o' the Federation Council of Churches declares in a statement that the present situation in Nicaragua and Mexico should "lead our government to formulate a clear policy for our future relations with the peoples and governments of Latin America."

While official silence continues regarding possible arbitration of the Mexican oil and land laws controversy, professors of international law in 35 colleges and universities headed by Joseph P. Chamberlain of Columbia, have suggested this means as a way out of the tangle on the ground that the questions at issue are "appropriate for settlement by the judicial method."

New Farm Relief Bill is Ready

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 24.— A new farm relief bill to take the place of the McNary-Haughen measure if that plan fails to win approval has been prepared for introduction by Representative Williamson, of South Dakota.

It would replace the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill an insurance fund to be built up from a collection charge deducted from the price paid farmers at the time of delivery of crops.

INJURED STUDENTS WILL RECOVER SAY PHYSICIANS MONDAY

Great Northern Sunshine Special in a wreck at Round Rock Saturday were held at the Baylor chapel this morning, with nearly 2,000 in attendance.

President S. P. Brooks of Baylor eulogized the qualities of the men who lost their lives. He told of their many virtues as athletes, as students, and as men.

Mike Copass, student leader, spoke in behalf of the student body, and Dr. H. W. Trantham of the Athletic council, paid respect on the part of that body.

Short talks were made by pastors of the city.

The entire student body was present, as were numerous friends and relatives of the dead boys. Class work has been suspended for Monday.

This afternoon, funeral services for the three victims who resided in Waco will be held in a joint ceremony at the Baylor chapel. Four pastors will officiate.

Foster Buried Sunday.

By Associated Press.

Taylor, Texas, Jan. 24.—Funeral services for Ivey R. Foster, Baylor University student killed Saturday in the bus wreck at Round Rock, were held Sunday afternoon from the First Baptist church. Interment was in the city cemetery.

Although the weather was inclement, the funeral cortege was one of the largest ever seen in this city. Bouquets and wreaths of flowers were heaped on the grave.

Taylor Youth Given Lift by Mexia Man

Special to the Sun.

Mexia, Jan. 24.—Earl Foster of Taylor, Baylor student, killed in the Round Rock accident, was enroute to Austin to fill a date with a girl, according to Weaver Barnett, Mexia wholesale grocer, who had given Foster the lift from Waco to Temple Saturday. Foster told Barnett he did not ride in the bus because it was already filled, but that he determined to make the date and see the game.

Barnett praised the youth as one of the finest young men he ever talked with. After leaving Barnett's car at Temple Foster was offered a ride in the bus.

To Probe Accident At Grade Crossing

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 24.—An "extraordinary investigation" of Saturday's grade crossing accident at Round Rock which killed ten Baylor University students will be held within a few days at Round Rock by Missouri Pacific Railway officials.

This statement was made Monday to the Associated Press by Milton Morris, Austin passenger agent, after he had talked with J. T. L. Brooks, of Palestine, superintendent of the Palestine division, in which Round Rock is located.

The train that crashed into the large Baylor University bus which carried the Baylor Bear basketball squad, was the "Sunshine Special" crack train of the International & Great Northern, one of the Missouri Lines.

INTERESTING HISTORY OF DELFOS VARIETY OF COTTON SEED GIVEN BY BRYANT

Some interesting history on the Delfos variety of cotton seed has been contributed to the Agricultural department of the Chamber of Commerce in a letter from John J. Bryant, Corsicana, a state registered cotton breeder and well-known for his development of Bryant Bred Mebane cotton.

Mr. Bryant recently attended a meeting of the Dallas Agricultural Club at which Dr. D. A. Saunders of Greenville gave some light on the Delfos variety.

Dr. Saunders explained, that he himself had hybridized the original seed about 1895, using a parentage of Mebane and Sunshine, a long staple variety. After some twelve years of work these seed were distributed over Texas and it was found they would not stand the drouth conditions of Texas, the originator explained.

The seed were then sent to the farm of Mr. Foster, where it obtained its real name of Foster cotton. Later is was grown extensively in the Delta of the Mississippi, where it was prolific and was renamed. Del being used as the contraction for Delta and Fos a contraction of Foster, its original name.

Mr. Bryant said that Dr. Saunders said that the leaders of the "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest should advise farmers that Delfos was adapted only to soils with an abundance of moisture and plant food and that they should not consider planting it on Texas upland, for such a practice was bound to lead to disappointment and loss.

A sample stalk of the Delfos cotton grown in the Mississippi Valley attracted considerable attention when displayed in the Chamber of Commerce some weeks ago because this particular stalk contained some 249 bolls of open cotton.

METHODISTS HAVE MANY AT CHURCH TO HEAR MINISTER

SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE SHOWS FALLING OFF ACCOUNT WEATHER

There was a total attendance of 453 at the First Methodist Sunday School yesterday and while this compared with a total og 592 last Sunday shows a loss, compared with 201 the same Sunday last year shows an increase of 252.

In the Adult department A. A. Allison, superintendent of this department, made announcements in regard to future programs for this department and it was decided that exercises in this department would start promptly at 9:35 a. m., following assembly at 9:30.

The program as announced for next Sunday by Mr. Allison will be furnished by the Weiler Bible Class and will be as follows: Ten minute talk by Rev. F. P. Culver and quartet music headed by Jack Haslam. J. L. Halbert's class will act as greeters and ushers. This system will be followed through each Sunday with the classes in this department furnishing the programs.

In the Weiler Bible class there was an attendance of 46, compared with 48 last Sunday showing a loss of two, but compared with the same Sunday one year ago of 26, shows an increase of 20.

J. T. Newsom as chairman of a special committee of the Weiler Bible class to make arrangements for a membership contest made the following report which was adopted. That the class be divided into two divisions known as the Reds and Blues, T. H. Benton to be captain of the Blues and Boyce Martin captain of the Reds, the contest to run from January 30th to February 26th, points to be counted in contest as follows: Twenty-five points each Sunday for side with largest attendance; 25 points for each new member secured and five points for each visitor, however visitors are not to be counted in total attendance for either side. That the losing side will banquet the winning side the banquet to be given in connection with the first Men's Monthly Luncheon Club of the Church. The list of members on each side will be published in the next few days.

Hon. W. A. Tarver taught the class.

In the High School department, Mrs. Pearl Hicks in charge, a total of 93 books in the Bible have been read.

At the morning church hour, Hon. W. A. Tarver made a three-minute talk on Missions. Edward Hearn sang a solo, the choir rendered an anthem and Rev. Mr. Culver, among other announcements, stated that the first quarterly conference of the Church would be held in the Educational building Tuesday night at 7:30 with presiding elder Rev. A. W. Hall in charge. He stressed the importance of this meeting and urged a full attendance of all officers and those interested in the work of the church.

The auditorium was filled for the morning service and Rev. Mr. Culver delivered another fine sermon and took occasion to thank all for the wonderful attendance in spite of the extremely bad weather.

At the night hour the choir sang an anthem and Rev. Mr. Culver preached. The music under Dicertor Hearne is showing improvement each Sunday, the music as renedered yesterday being especially fine.

TWO AUTO THIEVES ARRESTED BY LOCAL POLICE DEPARTMENT

Two arrests were made over the week-end by the local police department of auto and auto accessory thieves. One man was arrested on a charge of stealing a car in Dallas on January 12th. He later confessed to this charge.

Another youth was arrested and confessed to the theft of accessories from cars in Corsicana. Chief Knight stated that there was a horn that had not yet been identified as belonging to local parties, or at least it had been reported as having been stolen here, and he asks any who have recently lost an auto horn to call at the police station and see the horn.

DRANE COMPANY HAS OPENED BUSINESS ON EAST SEVENTH AVE.

The Drane company have established temporary headquarters on Seventh avenue in the building formerly occupied by the Lucy Manufacturing Company. The building is conveniently equipped to serve the needs of this popular concern for the present, until their building is repaired from damages sustained in the recent fire.

The large loading platforms and other conveniences make it a splendid place for conducting their business, and with the sale advertised in this issue of the Sun and forthcoming issues of the Light and Sun, it will no doubt present a busy place.

"We are anxious to clear out all merchandise on hand before moving back to our home building," said Merrit Drane, manager of the Drane company, "and we are giving our customers the benefit of a good share of our loss."

QUESTION BETWEEN MEXICO AND UNITED STATES MERELY MATTER PROPERTY RIGHTS

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Coincident with the placing in operation of the new alien property land law in Mexico under which only native-born Mexicans are permitted to own land in that country, the position of the Coolidge administration in dealing with the dispute over this and Mexico's new petroleum law is again affirmed as being considered solely with the question whether American property can be taken without being paid for.

President Coolidge feels that this fundamental question has been overlooked by the majority of the American people in considering the issues involved in the controversy and that critics of his policy generally have confused their minds by paying too much attention to the insignificant angles of the principles in dispute.

In considering the possibility of arbitration, it is said on behalf of Mr. Coolidge that the necessity of affording full protection to American property rights has been and will be the chief concern of the Washington government in any attempt to settle the issues. The less important angles would be easy of solution, he feels, once the fundamental question of the sanctity of vested rights is disposed of.

Officials here continue to maintain silence on the subject of arbitration, adoption of which by the United States has been proposed by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in approving the Robinson resolution.

Under the alien land law, the Mexican government may grant property rights to foreigners who renounce the right of appeal to their home governments for protection in case of disputes. Registration under the law, it is understood, will be construed as acceptance of its provisions, including renunciation of the right of appeal while failure to register automatically removes that right.

As to the oil situation, all but 22 of the 147 oil companies doing business in Mexico are reported by the Department of Industry at Mexico City as having accepted the new petroleum law. A statement by the Department did not mention those companies which have not sought confirmatory or preferential concessions, but said it was hoped the resistance of the "rebellious companies" will gradually dissipate.

FARM DEMONSTRATION AGENT DENIES DAYS OF GOOD FOOD IN FARM HOMES HAS PASSED

Henry Gentry, County Agent, is ready to take issue with any further speakers who declare that the old-fashioned farm dinner, which in former days was taken as the standard for measuring a square meal has entirely passed out in this age of cotton farming in Navarro county.

The local county agent arose to a point of personal privilege in a group at the Chamber of Commerce in which the topic of discussion was a country dinner. The conversation was trending toward the assertion that whereas the city man used to go out in the country to get a real good meal, the farmer now has to come to town to buy the stuff that he used to produce at home.

"Unhappily there is considerable truth in that statement, but thank goodness there are exceptions," said Gentry. The agent made good his point by explaining that some days ago he had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cook, in the Black Hills Community, route No. 2, Corsicana, on the Beauford Jester farm, where some terracing was being done.

Here is the menu that Gentry enjoyed, along with others, which was tastefully cooked and served by the housewife: Backbone, sausage, baked spare ribs and dressing, biscuits and cornbread, pickled peaches, home-made saurkraut, cucumber pickles, baked potatoes, candied and spiced sweet potatoes, grape jelly, apple jelly, home-made jelly cake, home-made canned peaches and whipped cream, butter, sweet and butter milk, coffee and heavy sweet cream.

Everything served at this dinner was produced on the farm except the flour, sugar, coffee and condiments.

The conversation was adjourned amid confustion, all admitting that Gentry had scored his point.

REPRESENTATIVE OF LARGE MANUFACTURING PLANT WAS SHOCKED AT COUNTY ROADS

"To be perfectly candid we are disappointed in looking over Navarro county to find that a community with so much in its favor has such poor roads."

This comment was made by the spokesman for a group of four men to a representative of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night in connection with a possible investment of considerable size in this county.

"We operate plants in three different states. Our Texas investments include plants at Wichita Falls and Texarkana. In surveying a prospective field we are keenly interested in people and transportation. That is, in going into a community in the agricultural belt we are interested in the prosperity of the farmers and the type of roads.

"We have observed in the states of Texas, Louisiana, and Georgia, in which we are familiar for a stretch of some forty years, that the prosperity of the people follows paved roads. Among farmers, for instance, you will almost invariably find that diversification follows paved roads. We noticed around the little town of Atlanta, Texas, for instance, that practically every farm house has been painted, remodeled, or new homes built. Most farmers there have a truck and a touring car, and they are constantly carrying year round products to local markets. This would be impossible with impassable roads.

"We have observed further that the farmers who really live like white men are entitled to live, 'living at home.' While our business is of a marketing nature, our basis interest is in the prosperity of the farmers and other citizens in the territory in which we operate."

The visit of this group at this time in Navarro county was of a confidential nature. Many of the items affecting the advantages of this community were discussed but the two things of good roads and diversified farming were the principal points of interest to these business visitors.

BONNER JURY FAILED TO AGREE AND WAS DISCHARGED; CASE GOES TO SAN ANTONIO

By Associated Press.

Corpus Christi, Jan. 22.—The Jury in the trial of Frank Bonner, charged with the bomb slaying of J. A. Barnes, was discharged here this morning after having deliberated since 10 o'colck Thursday night. The case was immediately transferred to the 94th district court in Bexar county.

Bond for the defendant was set at $15,000 and he prepared to make it. The bond on the charge of killing Barnes, for which he was tried was set at $10,000 and on the charge of killing Barnes' 7-year-old son, Jesse, at $5,000.

Barnes and his son were killed when he opened an express package which had been shipped to him by express from San Antonio. The State maintained that Bonner, who later married Barnes' daughter, came to San Antonio from Austin, where he was a University of Texas student, and had a newsboy deliver the package at the express office.

SNOW AND SLEET FOLLOWS DROP IN SEVERAL STATES

By Associated Press.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Jan. 22.—Sleet and snow Friday night gave Wichita Falls its first white of the winter and brought temperatures downward to a minimum of 20 degrees. The mercury still stood at that figure Saturday morning, with no relief promised during the day. It was freezing southward to the vicinity of Dallas.

Probably the coldest temperature in the state was at Texline, where a minimum of six degrees was reported. Childress reported 18, with many points reporting snow and sleet.

A north wind was sweeping the cold wave southward today, accompanied by rain or sleet. This was expected to turn to snow in many sections before night. The mercury at Waco stood at 36 degrees at 7 a. m. The San Antonio Weather Bureau, warned residents in that section to prepare for 25 degrees above zero tonight.

By Associated Press.

Kansas City, Jan. 22.—Snow flurries and sleet today continued an invasion of the Middle West and Southwest with the Mississippi Valley as the objective of winter's latest drive from the Rocky Mountain States where two year records for sub-zero temperature were broken in a three day siege.

While the thermometer continued to read from 10 to more than 30 below in Montana and Wyoming yesterday, the cold crept over the Dakotas and Nebraska, bringing a light snowfall and entered Kansas and Oklahoma to change rain to sleet. The mercury also stood at frigid marks in Minnesota, Iowa Missouri and parts of Arkansas with little prospect of relief before Sunday.

Kansas points today found the mercury near zero while sleet added to traffic hazards. Oklahoma cities had readings in the lower twenties with rain changing to sleet. North Texas also experienced sharp drops in temperatures with near zero weather at Amarillo.

Aged Man Frozen to Death.

By Associated Press.

Mount Vernon, Wash., Jan. 22.—The cold spell which has settled over the Pacific Northwest claimed one life when Henry Hindermark, 70, was found frozen to death yesterday. He was an inmate of the county farm, from which he wandered on Monday.

At Meacham, Ore., on the top of the Blue Mountains, the mercury stood at 37 below zero mark last night. At Crescent it was 34 below.

Snow at Amarillo.

By Associated Press.

Amarillo, Texas, Jan. 22.—An icy mist last night, which turned to snow before morning as the temperature plunged downward to 11 degrees, painted Amarillo and this section of the Panhandle a glistening white. The light snow is general over this section, early reports indicate. A sharp wind is blowing out of the north.

CIVIC PROGRESS FOUND WHERE ALL CLUBS JOIN HANDS

"My work has carried me into many towns of many states and I have noticed that in those towns where the various service clubs work in close co-operation with the Chambers of Commerce you will find the most substantial civic progress made," declared Floyd Zeigler, one of the circulation managers of "Nation's Business," the official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and one of the principal business publications of the country.

Mr. Zeigler arrived in Corsicana Friday morning, and his comment was made at the Chamber of Commerce in an informal discussion.

Mr. Zeigler said that there was a growing tendency in many of the principal cities, as for example Detroit, for the various luncheon clubs, such as the Rotary, Lions, Civitan, Exchange, Conopus, and the like, to hold from time to time "All City" luncheons in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce. These luncheons amount to revivals in civic enterprise and coordinated fellowship, he said.

"Business leaders all over the country who are active both in civic matters and luncheon clubs are realizing that closer relations are necessary among the various organized groups for all concerned to achieve more for their communities as well as for their individual clubs. Every organization that a man belongs to takes a certain amount of time and money, and unless these forces are focused through some central community-wide group, such as the Chamber of Commerce, they are in a sense competitive and do not measure up to their full possibilties of community service. Luncheon clubs are great factors in building up fellowship and ideals of service. It seems to me that we might well compare them to spokes of a wheel, with the rim representing the community at large and the hub representing an efficient, co-ordinating Chamber of Commerce."

FEDERAL MARKET NEWS SERVICE WILL BE GIVEN TO VALLEY

By Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Jan. 24.—Definite announcement has been made that a field office of the market news service of the United States Department of Agriculture will be opened at Brownsville, on February 1.

This service is being extended to the lower Rio Grande valley shippers of fruits and vegetables during the heavy shipping months of February, March, April and May, through a co-operative agreement with the Brownsville Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Department of Agriculture. Reports indicate that the spring movement of perishables from the Valley will be the heaviest on record.

TWO ARMY PLANES ON GOOD WILL TRIP SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

By Associated Press.

France Field, Panama, Jan. 24.—The United States army good-will fliers have become separated again When the five planes which are on a flight over Central and South American States were getting ready to take off here yesterday for Paranquilla and Bogota, Colombia, the New York and the San Antonio were damaged by the heavy swell and forced to remain here for repairs. Major Herbert A. Dargue, commander of the flight, went aboard the San Francisco, which, with the Detroit and the St. Louis, continued on to Colombia.

For a time men aboard the San Antonio were in danger of drowning, as the pontoons of the plane were punctured. The ship filled with water quickly, but a launch came to the rescue, the fliers were taken aboard and the plane was towed to safety. The man on the New York were able to bring the plane to shore under its own power after it was damaged by the waves.

New Orleans Market Active.

By Associated Press.

New Orleans, Jan. 24.—The cotton market was fairly active today, the main feature being the Census Bureau report giving total ginnings to January 15, as 16,609,517 bales or 1,067,268 bales for the last period. Although the market had opened 6 to 7 points down on poor Liverpool cables, prices soon rallied on the report and ultimately showed gains of 26 to 42 points with March at 13.60, May at 13.76 and July at 13.91.

The market gradually eased off later and around the middle of the afternoon prices were 13 to 19 points below the highs. Exports for the day 11,676.

Futures closed steady at net advance of 7 to 10 points.

Railroad Shares Feature Market.

By Associated Press.

New York, Jan. 24.—Heavy buying of the railroad shares featured the opening of today's stock market. Initial gains of 1 to 2 points were recorded by Missouri Pacific preferred, Western Maryland, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Remington Typewriter. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe broke 2 1-2 points on the first sale and General Motors, Hudson and U. S. Steel common yielded fractionally.

Speculation centered almost entirely in the railroad shares, buying of which was stimulated by rumors of mergers and competitive buying for control. Wheeling and Lake Erie issues continued their sensational advance, the common quickly soaring 6 1-2 points to a new record high at 55 while the preferred and Colorado Fuel, also known as "Rockefeller properties" were likewise in brisk demand.

Foreign exchanges opened firm, demand sterling ruling around $4.84 7-8 and French francs just above 3.95c.

BERLIN

American Methods of Show Advertising Being Adopted.

By the Associated Press.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—American methods of show-window advertising are coming daily into greater use in Berlin and attracting a lot of attention. If one sees a crowd gathered in front of a shop the wager is a good one that a peep into the window will reveal some demonstration of merchandising, after the American style, going on there.

Many interesting mechanical processes, such as the automatic filling tooth-paste tubes, are on exhibition. In one window a very striking looking young damsel is perpetually having her bobbed hair permanently waved by another young feminine beauty as a demonstration of the skilled artistic treatment the client entering the shop would receive.

Many Rabbits Eaten

German rag-pickers, unlike the American collectors do not cry for "rags, bottles, iron," but raise ear-piercing appeals for "rags, old paper, rabbit skins." This unusual variance is due to the fact that Germans are great eaters of hare's meat during the fall and winter months. One finds hares and rabbits at every butcher shop, in the outdoor municipal markets, and in the carts of the street vendors. Vension, too, is a popular article of food in the restaurants. Turkey, on the other hand, is almost unknown.

Paragrahpers Knock City

Berlin paragraphers and newspaper illustrators don't mind giving their city a gentle knock once in a while. One of the leading evening dailies prints a two-picture exhibit of the "Here" and "There" order, under the caption, "Is Berlin a World Capital?" One of them is a photograph of the impressive down town skyline of New York and the other a snapshot of a couple of antiquated horse-drawn cabs outside the Lehrter Bahnhof, the station at which most foreign travelers arrive in Berlin. The legend beneath reads: "First glimpse of New York—And—First glimpse of Berlin by the traveler arriving from New York."

It seems only fair to add that the horse-drawn cab is not at all typical of Berlin whose taxi service as a whole is up to date. Furthermore this is the last year the old horse-drawn cabs are to be allowed on the streets, notice having been given that expiring licenses for them would not be renewed.

ABDICATION KING FERDINAND EXPECTED CAROL TO COME BACK

By Associated Press.

Paris, Jan. 24.—Abdication of King Ferdinand of Rumania and assumption of regal powers by his errant son, Prince Carol, are possibilities looked for in the next few weeks by Rumanian circles in Paris.

That the dynastic crisis, which has paralyzed the political life of the country for a year, is on the eve of a solution appears to be less and less in doubt. For several months Fardinand has shown a willingness to disregard the action of Carol in renouncing his rights as successor to the throne, but he has been thwareted in efforts to call Carol home by certain influential advisors of the government, chiefly former Premier Bratiano.

Now reliable reports reaching here that the King, desirous of going to Parfis to seek such treatment as he believes might bring him at least a semblance of health, has decided to have his own way and abdicate in favor of Carol.

RATES ON SUGAR HELD UNREASONABLE TO TEXAS POINTS

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Rates on sugar to the cities of Marshall and Jefferson in Texas were held today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to be unreasonable and reductions were ordered.

In the future the road serving the Texas points must fix rates from New Orleans at not more than 3 cents and 4 cents per hundred pounds above like rates to Shreveport, La.

MAIN BUILDING DENOMINATIONAL COLLEGE BURNED

By Associated Press.

New Wilmington, Pa., Jan. 24.—"Old Main," historic main building of Westminster College, was destroyed by fire here today with a loss estimated at $250,000. The structure erected in 1851, and all its contents, were a total loss. The school belongs to the United Presbyterian church.

Thousands Of Persons in France Are Being "Thanked" Out of Jobs

By the Associated Press.

Paris, Jan. 22.—Thousands of men and women are being 'thanked' in France and then find themselves out of a job, during the present business depression.

When a person in France is "fired," he is, in the polite language of trade, "remercie," which translated is, literally, "thanked."

The factory worker gets his discharge in exactly the same formula, but when he tells the world about it he says he has been "lessive," or, in English, "washed out."

George Had Stage Fright.

Georges Carpentier got cold feet before his first battle with theatrical fame.

The former light heavyweight champion of the world resigned his option on the star role of "Knock Out," a new play, 15 days before the opening.

Carpentier wasn't afraid in the dictionary sense, but he didn't wish to get a poor start through lack of adequate preparation. He had not begun rehearsals, and he felt he would need a longer time to get ready.

Carpentier, nevertheless, is going to meet the public over the footlights before long, but it is very likely he will begin his career in a short sketch in a vaudeville house.

His friends say he has plenty of histrionic ability and lots of intelligence. They approve his reluctance to start too soon and in too pretentious a role.

Checker Player Must Train

The checker player who wishes to rise above the average must train like a football player, says M. Springer, a young Paris accountant who startled the checkers world by playing and wining two matches simultaneously, blindfolded.

The feat, he explained, was much harder than that of the chess player who plays a dozen or so matches at the same time. The absence of distinctive playing pieces, such as knights, bishops and castles make the play much harder to remember, he declared. The French checkers game, it must be added, is played upon a board of 100 squares and many intricate moves are permitted.

M. Springer abstains from all alcohol and tobacco, diets himself and devotes much time to outdoor exercise before an important game.

A School for Husbands

"A school for husbands," has been opened at Nancy for the boys in military service. The city and the military authorities joined in establishing this free housekeeping training department in the 26th regiment barracks.

Cooking, washing, and rudiments of dusting and sweeping are taught the young men.

"Your wife—if and when you get a wife—may get sick," the young men were told.

Editor Is Good Feeder

Eugene Lautier, editor of the paper Clemenceau founded, is called "the most beautiful fork" in the chamber of deputies, of which he is a member. A "fork" in French is slightly slangy for "good feeder."

It was told of Lautier that he ate two hares at a lunch. He was described as having invited seven guests, all of whom failed him. Lautier ate alone. He began with the choicest morsels and, as the hare was good, he ended by eating all. Then, it was said, he ordered a rum omelet of a dozen eggs.

A listener, doubting the story because the teller came from the south of France, the region of "tall tales," repeated it to Lautier who listened solemnly.

"No," said the deputy. "That isn't ture. I ate the two hares, but there were ony six eggs in the omelet."

SUNDAY WAS GOOD DAY FOR FEDERAL TROOPS IN MEXICO

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Jan. 24.—Twenty-eight rebels and one chieftain were killed in various combats with Federal forces Sunday. General Pablo Cabanas, heading a group of insurgents attacketd Santa Maria, state of Guerrero, but the small garrison defeated and dispersed the rebels, killing ten of them.

Simon Cotes and four of his followers were killed after capturing a part of the town of Santiguel del Monte, state of Michoacan, when state guards defeated the band.

Six rebels were killed at Ahualica, six at Los Altas, and two at Ayo Chico, during clashes with federal soldiers in the state of Jalisco.

Corporation Court Busy Place Monday

There was numerous charges appearing on the police docket Monday morning. Two were charged with failing to obey the boulevard stop law. A negro woman was charged with disturbing the peace. One charge of being drunk and driving a truck while drunk was docketed. A negro boy was charged with stealing an auto jack and selling it. A young man was arrested on a charge of forgery. Two boys were arrested for the alleged theft of a gun. One arrest was made on a charge of stealing a car in Dallas and another arrest was made of a youth who confessed to stealing accessories from Corsicana cars.

Nottingham Lace Manufacturers Anticipating Boom in Business

By the Associated Press.

London, Jan. 22.—Nottingham lace manufacturers are anticipating something of a boom in their products as the result of a return in popularity of lace on women's garments this year.

Models of spring underwear fashions have been designed for a large proportion of lace accessories and there are signs of a return to a form a "ruffle" which is intended to be worn over spring and summer costumes as a separate article.

Frills and tucks on spring gowns will also make employment more general in the district.

Not Applicable Now

A hundred years ago an Englishman asked, "who has read an American book?" It was the wisecrack of the day. Everybody laughed at the joke.

Nowadays it would be difficult to find Englishmen who have never read an American book. Everything from Henry Mencken and Henry Ford to Sinclair Lewis and Anita Loos is devoured over here.

And now comes Arnold Bennett, sometimes called the Gordon Selfridge of modern English literature, because of the variety of his wares, to announce and emphasize that the two best books of fiction he read during 1926 were by American writers.

One was Theodore Dreiser's, "An American Tragedy," the other Herman Melville's "Pierre," written years ago. Bennett calls Melville an exalted genius. Dreiser, he says, despises style, elegance, clarity, even grammar, but sheer power of writing makes his story a thing of beauty and art.

Man of Many Professions

The Earl of Reading, once plain Rufus Isaacs, Jewish cabin boy on an English sailing vessel; later, war-time ambassador to the United States, collects new professions and occupations like a school boy collects postage stamps.

He has been sailor, stock broker, member of parliament, Lord Chief Justice, Ambassador to Washington, Viceroy of India, newspaper proprietor and journalist.

His latest job is captain of Deal Castle, a very ancient and highly honorary post which carries no salary and no duties. The holder, however, can live in the ancient stronghold overlooking the English Channel, and from there Captain the Marquess of Reading will be able to look out to sea from his battlements and recall his own boyhood days before the mast.

"Old Masters" Sell Easier

English art dealers say it is much easier to sell a valuable painting for 5,000 pounds than to sell a first-class modern work for 25 pounds.

There is a well-defined market for the "Old Master" both in England and the United States. Dealers and collectors grab every "Old Master" that appears in the market.

The work of etstablished modern painters sells much less quickly and canvases picked out by critics for special praise often fail to find buyers for 18 months or two years. English modern artists are, as a rule, even less fortunate than Americans in disposing of their work.

Life Is Topsy-Turvy

"Life for women nowadays seems to be a great game of 'pontoon,'" writes the Rev. A. Wellesley Orr, Vicar of St. Pauls, in his kingston Parish magazine. "The young girls try to deceive us into thinking they are 21 and the old women wish us to imagine they are no more than 21."

Dancing Men Away

So many young dancing men have gone to Switzerland for the winter sports that hostesses in Mayfair and gloomy about the dances they have arranged. There are plenty of girls left behind but the difficulty is to find suitable male partners for them.

Sister Ship on Silver Sea

A feature of the Duchess of York's dining table decoration in the battle cruiser Renown will be a 'silver ship sailing on a silver sea.' The beautiful wrought ship is a model of H. M. S. Endeavour, in which Captain Cook first visited Australia. The plate was the property of the battleship Commonwealth and since the latter was scraped has been in store. The plate has been loaned to the Renoun for the world voyage of the Duke and Duchess who return home in June.

Refuse to Take Mosely Seriously

The Tories of old England absolutely refuse to take young Oswald Mosley seriously. The Socialists of Smethwick can send him to Parliament with a huge majority, as they did recently, but Mosley's political enemies continue to deride him.

A story of Mosley's marriage to Lady Cynthia Curzon, duaghter of the late Lord Curzon and Mary Leiter, of Chicago, has been revived. Those were the days before Mosley had turned Socialist. The wedding was most fashionable. The Kings and Queens of both England and Belgium attended.

Asked for a description, a guest said:

"Oh, it was just like a full house at Poker."

"How's that," questioned and puzzled inquirer.

"Two kings, two queens, and a joker."

This, of course, is an English story. The English play the joker wild.

MEMBER FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH GIVEN ANOTHER SURPRISE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

By H. A. "HARVEY" ARMSTRONG

Boy, howdy! Those Baptists have already gone over the top with that $30,000 budget that they budgeted at the last prayer meeting yours truly visited. Reports Wednesday night were to the effect that there were enough pledge cards signed up and upon which people were paying regularly to make more than the stated quota, and now they are as busy receiving Love Gifts for the Conquest Campaign which was put on to get the Baptist institutions of Texas out of debt, as the new governor is getting his house in order down at Austin. This report was made by Paul Harper, Educational Director of the church.

I didn't get into the prayer meeting—being late a few minutes and the program was going on, followed by the regular monthly conference—but I sat myself down in a chair just outside of the room and listened to the proceedings. There was no foolishness about the conference this time, either. No one arose to ask who was the first man to introduce salt pork into the Navy? To have some member answer "Noah, because he took Ham into the ark with him," no siree—they stayed right to the program, with their heads and hearts bent upon looking after every detail of the business of the First Baptist church and things pertaining to other services and efforts being expended to carry on the good work in which the Baptists are engaged.

Churches Use Business Methods

I repeat it again that the churches carry on their business on a business schedule second to none, and not excepting the gentlemen who meet every so often at the White House in Washington and take stands for and against what the President advocates.

What a great work the people of the churches are doing in their respective communities throughout the land! How little the average citizen knows of what is going on in them! How much character and leadership is being developed, and how certainly and surely the work of the Meek and Lowly Savior is being carried on. Church work is most certainly calling to its channels the leading men and women of the world.

Most assuredly a part of the world is getting worse but just as surely there is another part of the world that is doing more and greater service for humanity—unselfish in its foundation work, and uplifting and elevating in its trend of teaching and principles. The faithful few who attend the prayer meetings, attend the conferences and other church gatherings where church activities are planned and leadership trained, are keeping alive in the hearts of men, women and children the religion that is worth while and paving the way to happiness that faileth not.

But back to the prayer meeting and monthly conference. These Baptists also completed a full organization to receive "Love Gifts" for the Conquest Campaign and when the date set aside, February 26th to 27th—comes around, gifts will be forthcoming and the first Baptist church will be well and ready to receive them.

Faithful Were Present

There were over a hundred of these faithful members, Sunday School teachers and officers of the church present, and in order to keep the records straight, the aforesaid meeting properly termed was an "adjourned conference;" there being too much business, it seemed, to be transacted in one evening at the last named meeting, so the prefixed "adjourned conference" is correct and proper.

Reports from the church clerk showed that there were 362 additions during the past year to the church, 176 of which came by baptism, which totals the church membership at this time in 1713.

Superintendent of Sunday School C. A. Middleton showed by his report that an average attendance of near 800 had prevailed throughout the year and that the Sunday School now has an attendance of 1265.

Further report was made by the tursteees to the effect that the church assets in buildings, furnishings and equipment totaled $180,000, with an indebtedness of $46,000.

Financial Report Good

Also the annual report of finances was read by Hood Cheney, treasurer. Among the encouraging things his report showed was that during the year 1927 the total receipts of the church was $24,867.51, however this amount did not include the amount collected for the year on the building fund or the women's work, both of which added together, puts an additional $15,000 in the grand total.

The facts as given above are not to be wondered at when a church is following such a program as was suggested by a statement from the pastor, Dr. J. Howard Williams, when he said:

"This church is seeking to enlist and develop all of its people, by offering them a program worthy of their best in money, time and talent, keeping the major emphasis on the winning of the people to Christ."

TEXAS SHOWS HUGE GAIN IN VALUE OF EXPORTS OVER 1925

Special to the Sun.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Exports of merchandise from Texas during the third quarter of 1926 were valued at $184,499,192 and represented a gain of $50,076,619 over the total of $134,422, 573 exported from the state in the corresponding period of 1925, according to a statistical survey of exports by states of origin made public today by the Department of Commerce. Texas was surpassed in exports during the three months only by New York whose foreign shipments exceeded those from Texas by approximately $10,000,000 whereas the lead held by New York in the third quarter of 1925 amounted to more than $50,000,000.

Foreign shipments of unmanufactured cotton valued at $98,563,559 constituted the outstanding item of export from Texas in the period under servey. The second item in importance was wheat, exports of which totaled $46,965,864 during the three months, and the third was gasoline, with an export value of $11,097,034. Following these three predominant exports were the following, named in the order of their value during the July September period: Illuminating oil, valued at $7,421,688; lubricating oil, valued at $2,165,710; gas and fuel oil, with a value of $1,965,260! wheat flour, amounting to $1,933,887 and sulphur or brimstone valued at $1,899,512. Exports of cottonseed cake and meal, chemicals and related products, boards, planks and scanltings of southern pine, textile manufacturers, machinery and parts, vegetable food products and other wood and paper products played important parts in the trade between Texas and the markets of the world during the quarter under discussion.

Total exports from the United States during the third quarter of 1926 were valued at $1,180,520,784 as compared with $1,116,917,102 during the corresponding period of 1925, an increase of $63,603,682.

The first ten states in order of value of exports during the third quarter of 1926 were New York with exports valued at $195,379,017; Texas, 184,499,192; Pennsylania, $83,248,428; California, $72,985,978; Michigan, $61,671,450; Illinois, $58,204,491; Louisiana, $57,$61,266; New Jersey, $50,478,132; Ohio, $44 932,688; and West Virginia, $34,320,613.

Of the states and possessions included twenty-seven increased the alue of exports during the third quarter of 1926 as compared with the same period of the preiors year with losses being recorded for the others ranging from $15,601,697 for Minnesota to $37,605 for Alaska.

Exports from West Virginia increased by $18,383,934 during the third quarter of 1926 as compared ouswith the same period of the previous year, ranking the state tenth in order of value of exports. Exports of merchandise from Texas were valued at $50,076,916 more than the foreign sales during the July-September period of 1925. Pennsylvania, California, Michigan, Ohio, Washington, and Oregon were numbered among the states with the largest increased exports compared with the third quarter of 1925.

Dr. Julius Klein, Director, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, under whose supervision the figures are compiled, calls attention to the fact that the figures are based primarily on through bills-of-lading, and, therefore, in the case of some states they reflect but a part of the total foreign trade and for others include goods produced elsewhere.

GULF ENGINEER WHO DIED HERE MUCH-TRAVELED

Papers found among the personal effects of Vernon G. Boelleter, age 37, who died at the county hospital Saturday, January 8, show that he was a world traveler and soldier of fortune and the high recommendations from officials and men with whom he came in contact show that he was also a gentleman of exceptional attainments.

At the time of his death he was an engineer for the Gulf company in the local oil fields. He was buried at Eagle Pass, Texas, on Monday, January 10.

Starting out at an early age he toured various sections of the country then joined the United States army. He was a captain in the 147th Infantry located at Fort Sill during the World war. Not only was he a volunteer but his four brothers joined the colors and the entire family including his brothers-in-law were connected in some way with war work.

After serving his first term in the army and before the United States entered the World war, Boelleter went to Mexico and joined Carranza's army and served with distinction with this famous Mexican leader. During his service with Carranza he was promoted to major. He was afterwards injured and was forced to resign from the Mexican army but he took up Red Cross work and was in charge of a relief train that made regular trips to the battle fields.

Many Narrow Escapes

Pictures and written accounts found in his diary recorded many narrow escapes and told many interesting details of life in the Mexican army.

Commissions and instruments of writings showed that he held a position in the immigration service at Brownsville, was deputy sheriff in Oklahoma, served as plain clothes patrolman in Oklahoma City.

In spite of his love for adventure there was another side to his life. Drawings found among his effects showed that he was an artist of no little ability. Advance notices and press reviews also showed that he had toured Mexico as a singer and actor. He was heralded as the golden voiced baritone and was the featured member of the company with which he traveled.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Boelleter; four brothers, Francis, Arthur, Cyril, and Clarence of Eagle Pass, Portland, Oregon, Fort Worth, Lufkin, and Rio Grande City, respectively, and three sisters, Mrs. Douglas Lanier, Houston; Mrs. Katherine McCoy, Eagle Pass; Mrs. Wallace Seckally, Beaumont, survive this much-traveled man.

Malcolm Chandler, a friend and companion of Boelleter, accompanied by Francis Boelleter are here attending to winding up the deceased affairs.

STORY OF KILLING OF CHIPPS IS TOLD BY MINISTER TODAY

By Associated Press.

Court Room, Austin, Tex., Jan. 21.—Dr. J. Frank Norris, fundamentalist pastor of Fort Worth, on the witness stand here today, told his story of how he killed Dexter E. Chipps in [illegible] office last July [illegible].

Weeping and halting [illegible] each word, he related how Chipps had come to his office, had demanded that he cease attacks on Chipp's friends, had threatened to kill him, and of how he shot Chipps when he said the latter came at him with his hand on his hip pocket.

Before giving this part of the story he had heard himself bitterly lambasted and warmly defended by attorneys in arguments over the admission of certain evidence. He sat silently in the witness box for more than an hour listening to these arguments in which much of his past was raked over. The jury was absent during this discussion.

The debated evidence concerned a remote conversation alleged to have occurred between Mayor H. C. Meacham of Fort Worth and Norris, which the defense wanted to introduce through Norris.

Evidence Ruled Out.

The judge ruled against the defense but not before much of the difficulties between Norris and Meacham and the Fort Worth moral and political situation had been aired in addresses by attorneys to the court.

The defense said they could link up the remote conversation in a chain of evidence with the killing of Chipps, and in supporting this statement Attorney Dayton Moses of the defense detailed a narrative in which Chipps, Meacham and Norris frequently came into opposition with each other.

Norris sat erect and still while attorneys for the State referred to him as "this fellow" and spoke of attacks he is alleged to have made on Fort Worth citizens from his pulpit. His face was tense.

The pastor appeared young and slender in his neat blue suit, but his hair was gray and his eyes red.

Norris First Witness

By the Associatel Press.

Court Room, Austin, Jan. 21.—Dr. J. Frank Norris, the southwest's leading fundamentalist pastor, took the witness stand here today in his trial for the killing of Dexter E. Chipps.

Chipps, a wholesale lumber man of Fort Worth, was killed by Norris in the latter's office last July 17.

Dr. Norris coughed considerably, holding a handkerchief to his mouth frequently.

"Dr. Norris, how old are you?" his attorney, Dayton Moses ,asked.

"Forty-nine."

He said he was born in Alabama. Moses asked if his parents were living and an objective by State that it was immaterial was sustained.

Norris' parents moved to Texas in 1889, he said. The State interposed many objections on the ground that his personal history was irrelevant. Some were sustained.

The witness told where he had been educated. He graduated at Baylor University, Waco.

"How did you sustain yourself at Baylor?"

"Object to that because it is irrelevant," shouted Prosecutor William McLean. Sustained.

Preached While Going to College

Norris said he preached while going to college. He received his doctor of divinity 20 years ago. Norris then traced his early ministry and his course in the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky.

Moses brought him down to his pastorate at Fort Worth, where Norris said he had been pastor of the First Baptist church for 18 years.

Norris told of his family, as to how many children and where they were. He said he lived seven miles out of Fort Worth on July 17, 1926.

The witness was coughing and his voice was weak. He answered with difficulty and most of the court room coughed with him, making his testimony difficult to hear.

Norris said he knew Mayor H. C. Meacham of Fort Worth. He said he had never met and never knew Chipps before July 17, last.

"Doctor, have you ever had any controversy with H. C. Meacham?" Moses asked.

"Yes. About 1920."

"Did Meacham have a conversation with you at that time?"

"Yes. It was on the street near Meacham's store."

"Did you know at that time a man by the name of Mott? and Mrs Mott?"

"Yes. Mrs. Mott was employed by Meacham."

"State the conversation in reference to Mrs. Mott."

"State objects," said McLean. Question was withdrawn.

Conversation With Meacham

Norris said his next conversation with Meacham was the latter part of 1922. A question about this also was withdrawn just as Norris replied that Meacham at the latter time was foreman of the grand jury.

Norris testified he was editor of the Search Light. Moses asked him if he wrote an editorial in the Search Light attacking Meacham as foreman. As Norris was about to answer as to a conversation with Meacham on this, State objected that it had nothing to do with the case and that it violated the court's ruling of yesterday against going into matters too remote.

Moses, McLean, Sam Sayers and John Shelton, were on their feet arguing. Moses demanded the jury be withdrawn. The judge called the lawyers to the bench for conference.

Dr. Norris sat quietly looking at the floor as the legal storm broke about him.

The judge ruled yesterday that the state would not be permitted to go into indictments against Norris in 1912 and 1913, and the state now wanted to prevent the defense from reaching back to other remote phases of Norris' personal history.

Court Room Buzzed

The court room, which had filled long before court opened, [illegible] a [illegible] as lawyers [illegible] over the judge's bench. Marvin Simpson of defense counsel handed Norris a cough drop.

"Before the death of Chipps did you know the state of feeling of Meacham?"

State's objection to this sustained.

"Who employed the firm of McLean, Scott and Sayers to prosecute you?"

"H. C. Meacham."

"Did you ever hear Meacham say how much fee he paid?"

State's objection sustained.

John Shelton, special prosecutor, asked that the jury be instructed to give no attention to the testimony and the judge so instructed.

"Did you have a visit from Meacham shortly before the death of Chipps, and, if so, what did he say?"

Objection sustained.

"Well, I can show whether he had a conversation with Meacham," said Moses.

"That's wholly irrelevant," said attorney Sam Sayers.

"What if he talked with some one in Europe? It wouldn't be relevant."

"Did you receive any information as to threats made by Meacham against you?"

State objected, but Norris had answered "Yes" and the judge cautioned him not to answer when the lawyers objected.

Jury Sent From Room

The jury was dismissed while attorney Moses detailed the conversation with Meacham about Mrs. Mott in order to let the court know what the defense intended to prove by it.

Moses detailed the conversation, which dealt with a law suit involving Meacham, and said they could link it up with Chipps' purported statement that he would build "a grave yard and put Norris in it."

Attorney Moses recited a long list of alleged difficulties between Norris and Meacham in which Chipps also was said to be involved, and argued that the Mott conversation should be let in as one link in the chain.

Attorney McLean answering Moses' argument, denied that he had ever advised a client to kill Norris and referred to alleged pulpit and printed attacks by Norris on certain citizens. Moses had said Norris had been informed McLean had advised a client he ought to kill Norris.

McLean said he wanted to answer "this personal attack on me."

McLean referred to Norris as "this fellow" and detailed some attacks Norr's is said to have made on Fort Worth people.

"Norris Lives on Notoriety"

[illegible] said that Meacham [illegible] and McLean [illegible] em "to forget it" because Norris lives on notoriety and the suit will only feed his notoriety.

Moses [illegible] two [illegible] and Meacham [illegible] one [illegible] which Meacham [illegible], called on Norris in reference to the pastor's attacks on conditions in Fort Worth. He brought these controversies down to the alleged action of the manager of [illegible] store in discharging em- of Norris' church. Moses said all ployes because they were members the chain of evidence could be linked up with Chipps' visit to Norris when he was shot.

District Attorney Jesse Martin of Fort Worth toop up the argument protesting against the "Mott evidence."

"They simply want to get the jury's mind off of that dying man, lying there in the corner of Norris' office with blood oozing out of his nose and with Norris and Nutt walking around there without even giving him a drink of water or putting a cool cloth to his fevered brow," said Martin.

Norris faced the lawyers from the witness stand listening to them lambast and defend him by turns.

Martin painted Meacham as the friend "who so loved a friend that he goes down into his pocket and pays to have Chipps' slayer prosecuted" and referred to Norris as the "man who threatened to hang the hides of these lawyers for the state on his radio towers above what he chooses to call his house of God."

Attorney Marvin Simpson spoke for the defense.

State's Objection Sustained.

The State's objection was sustained, the judge excluding the testimony of remote conversations between Norris and others, which the defense said they could link with the Chipps tragedy.

Mr. Moses then wanted to know if the ruling excluded a certain conversation between Norris and Mrs. R. B. Ridgway about a remark Chipps is alleged to have made concerning hiring a law firm to defend him if he got into trouble with Norris, but the judge excluded this.

The jury was recalled.

"When did you receive information about threats by Chipps against you?" asked Moses of the witness.

"I received the information from Fred D. Holland the day before the tragedy."

"Did you preach a sermon the Sunday before the tragedy in which you mentioned Meacham?"

"Yes."

"Before you talked to Holland?"

"Yes, sir."

Norris then related what Holland had told him about an alleged threat Chipps had made the night before.

"Holland told me he heard Chipps say 'I'm going to kill the ———,' Holland said he meant me (Norris.)

Chipps Had Police Record.

"I asked Holland if he had ever had trouble with Chipps and he told me of a fight he had with Chipps. He told me Chipps had a long police record and was a heavy drinker. He told me of several instances of trouble with Chipps, one of which was when Holland said Chipps had tried to break into an apartment house to see a woman. He also told me Chipps had been blacklisted at the Texas Hotel for trying to kill the manager."

Norris said Mrs. Holland did most of the sewing for his family and that the Hollands were on the friendliest of relations with the Norris family.

The witness then related the conversation between himsif and Chipps shortly before Chipps was killed.

"We're coming over there to settle with you on that sermon," he said that Chipps shouted over the telephone.

"I asked who he was. He said it didn't matter."

"What is your name?"

"It doesn't matter. I'm coming over there to kill you. I want you to stop that sermon, and he cursed.

"I said, you're mad and I don't want to see you. He said his name was Chipps.

"In a few minutes, Mr. L. H Nutt came into my office and I asked him if he knew Chipps. He told me he had seen him at the bank."

"Why didn't you tell Mr. Nutt of your conversation with Chipps?"

A State objection was sustained.

Intended to Leave.

"I was intending to leave as soon as my sermon was ready."

"Why?"

"Because I didn't know whether Chipps would come and I didn't want to be there if he did."

"Tell what you know about Chipps being dangerous."

"I believe he was a dangerous man and would carry out his threats."

Norris said he was at his desk when Nutt arrived. He testified Chipps did not knock, but opened the door and came in as Norris was talking to Nutt.

"Chipps walked up to Mr. Nutt and said, I know this man, I've seen him at the bank.

"He sat down on the settee. He clenched his fist thus," Norris held his clenched fist toward the jury.

"He said, I've got something to say and I'll say it to you. If you say another word about my friends Meacham, Carr and Roach, I'm going to kill you.'

"He moved over on the edge of the settee and said, and I mean every word I say.

"I then spoke to him for the first time and told him he didn't mean that.

"He got up." Norris rose and showed with a pointer where they stood. He said he stood near his desk.

Norris Is Threatened.

"He looked very angry and said he was going to kill me if I preached that sermon. I said, The sermon is already published. You [illegible] demand [illegible] [illegible] He [illegible] to the door. He said he was going to do everything he said.

"I returned to my desk. Chipps went into the ante room. I looked over my right shoulder and saw him returning." He had his hand on his hip."

"What did you do then, Doctor?"

Defendant Weeps.

Norris was weeping and could hardly talk. He bowed his head The words came very slowly.

"I took a gun from my desk and shot him," he said, talking into his handkerchief, weeping.

"Was Chipps coming fast or slow at you?"

"Rapidly."

"Why did you shoot Chipps?" Moses asked. After a long pause Norris said: "Because I thought he was going to kill me."

"Would you have killed him if you had not thought he was going to kill you?"

"No."

Norris' face was white and his eyes red.

"Did you think you were any physical match for Chipps? Was he powerful?"

"He was a powerful man. I was no match for him."

"How many times did you shoot?"

"I don't know."

"Why don't you know, Doctor?"

"I was too excited."

Dr. Norris said he then called his wife on the telephone. He said he was overwhelmed by the tragedy.

The witness told of his movements immediately following the tragedy. He said he went to the district attorney's office and gave himself up.

Mr. Moses resumed the examination at the afternoon session.

Never Saw Mrs. Parker Before.

"Dr. Norris, did you ever know Mrs. Rosie Parker who testified for the State?" Moses asked.

"Never saw her until the court room here."

"Did you say, I've killed me a man?"

"No."

"How do you remember?"

"Because it would have been most unnatural to say such a thing in view of my feelings."

William McLean took over the witness for cross examination.

"Didn't you say you didn't remember who you gave your pistol to?" McLean asked.

"Yes."

"And that you didn't remember who you saw in the office after the shooting?"

"Yes."

"Yet you remember you didn't say you killed you a man?"

"Yes."

"Have you been reminded of it during noon recess?"

"No."

"Where were you when you unloaded your six-shooter you had emptied into Chipps?"

"In my office."

The prosecutors went at the witness vigorously.

Norris said he found the empty shells from his pistol in his back pocket. He threw them away on his back porch.

CORSICANA AND RURAL SHADE WERE WINNERS SATURADY IN FINAL BASKETBALLL CONTESTS

Corsicana and Rural Shade emerged with the class A and class B titles of the Navarro county University of Texas Interscholastic League division tournaments Saturday night in the last two games of the tournament held at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium court Friday and Saturday. These two teams will clash in the game which will decide the county championship and also determine the team which will represent Navarro county in district competition. The Rural Shaders were forced to their limit by the spectacular Blooming Grove team, finally winning 12-11. The game was a hard-fought affair throughout and the winner was not determined until the last minute of play. The Tigers defeated the Kerens Bobcats 37-27. First one team and then the other would start a spurt for several goals.

In the Rural Shade-Blooming Grove clash, Corbin, center for the Blooming Grove team, was high-point man with six counters to his credit. He was closely pressed and was matched by Currington, center of Rural Shade, who amassed five counters during the game.

In the game for the class A supremacy the Kerens team showed unexpected strength and the goal tossing of McCord during the latter portion of the game and the goal shooting of Mann in the first half proved a continual threat of the Tigers who managed somehow to keep in the lead. One thing that the local fans were gratified was that the jinx of the Saturday night's game was apparently broken.

Edwin Price again was high point man of the game with a total of 15 points. Jay Lumsden, who did not start the game, scored 10 points during the time he participated. Mann, center for the Bobcats, was high-pointer for his team with eleven points, closely pressed by McCord with ten.

The score at the end of the first period was 10-6 in favor of Corsicana. At the half, the count was 22-11 in favor of the Tigers [illegible] Corsicana.

Semi-Finals

Providence-Blooming Grove

Blooming Grove surprised the followers of the class B tournament here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when they rallied viciously in the second period of their semifinal contest with the Providence cagers, doped to be one of the finalists in the tournament, to win 16-12 in a hotly contested affair. The cagers from West Navarro county were not nearly as large as their opponents but carried on their battle with a grim determination and fight that would not be denied. Hatley, forward and Corbin, center, of the Blooming Grove team, were high point men with six counters to their credit. Gaines and Kent of the Providence team were second scorers with five.

The score at the end of the first period was 2-1 in favor of Blooming Grove. At the half, the count had been boosted to 6-4 in favor of Providence and at the third period, the count was 12-8 in favor of Blooming Grove.

OPERATIONS BEING REDUCED BY FIRMS IN MEXICO SECTOR

By Associated Press.

Mexico City, Jan. 14.—Prolonged legal contests over the new petroleum law are in prospect, depending on the ruling of the Supreme Court or the decision of the Attorney General. Meanwhile the foreign companies remain in possession of their properties, although Tampico dispatches report that they are reducing their operations.

"The Federal District Court at Tampico refused Saturday to make permanent the injunction obtained recently by the Sinclair Oil Company, which sought to restrain the Secretary of Industry from revoking drilling permits.

The action of the Sinclair Company was looked on as a test case, and if the Government puts into effect its revocation of drilling permits it will mean that no new oil wells can be developed, that the oil industry will suffer to an untold degree and that many men will be thrown out of work.

Grant Relief in Specific Cases.

Decisions rendered in various District Courts in the amparo suits filed by the oil companies refuse to grant permanently a blanket restaining order against the operation of the new petroleum law in toto, but do grant temporary orders protecting specific pieces of property against certain provisions of the law.

Apparently about 100 amparos have been filed, some in the District Court of Mexico City, others at Tampico, Tuxpan and other oil field towns. These applications are of widely differing form. Some seek a blanket restraining order against the law, while others deal only with specified pieces of property or certain sections of the law.

Companies Hold Possession.

The oil companies continue in possession of their properties pending appeal to the higher courts and final decision by the Supreme Court or a ruling by Attorney General Ortego in lieu of a Supreme Court decision.

Two of the District Courts in Mexico City, one in Tampico and one in Pueblo Viejo, State of Vera Cruz, have denied amparos seeking a permanent general restraining order agains tthe operation of the entire law. It is understood that the attorneys representing the oil companies will appeal.

At the same time these and other District Courts have granted some temporary restraining orders. Dispatches from Tampico report complete quiet throughout the oil zone, but announce that about 3,000 workmen are idle by reason of the reduced operations.

APPARENT DANGER CHIEF POINT MADE IN JUDGE'S CHARGE

He insisted that if Norris is guilty of any offense the jury must believe beyond a reasonable doubt that he is guilty of murder with malice aforethought, and that it is either murder or nothing.

"You must believe Dr. Norris had malice against Chipps" Simpson said. "If you do not believe this then no crime has been ommitted But there is not a scintilla of evidence, not even a suggestion of murder in this case. Simpson was able to touch on but a few of the light points of the evidence prior to noon recess. He referred to the judge's charge that if defendant had a right to fire the first shot he also had a right to fire subsequent shots of self-defense He commented on the evidence of Chipps' alleged drinking habits.

Simpson said Mayor H. C Meacham had hired ten prosecutors "and paid them fabulous fees to prosecute Norris."

"If murder has been committed in this case it has been committed by H. C. Meacham of Fort Worth" Simpson shouted.

Claim to Fear Violence.

By Associated Press.

Court Room, Austin, Texas, Jan. 24.—Fear of possible injury to Dr. J. Frank Norris caused his friends here today to ask court bailiffs for permission to sit near him within the railing where his murder trial is drawing to a close.

When court opened a circle of friends surrounded the Fort Worth pastor, who is charged with killing D. E. Chipps.

Fred D. Holland, former Fort Worth policeman, who testified in behalf of Norris and who is a close friend of the preacher, sat at his right elbow. Just back of Norris were three prominent members of his church, the First Baptist church of Fort Worth.

Dr. Norris said he understood there were a large number of his Fort Worth supporters in the court room in anticipation of the close of the trial tomorrow or Wednesday

There was no one sitting near Norris except those known to be friendly to him.

Witnesses Heard Briefly.

C. D. Rogers of Fort Worth was recalled to the witness stand. He testified that H. H. Rains told him Dr. Norris remarked "I've killed me a man," and that this was his first knowledge of the killing.

He was put on today by the defense. Attorney Marvin Simpson of defense asked him if he had told two defense representatives that the first he knew of the killing was when he read about it in the newspapers. He answered in the affirmative.

B. F. Bouldin, attorney of Fort Worth testified that he interviews Rogers in Dallas last week. Rev W. E. Brittain was with him.

McLean attempted to get from B. F. Bouldin the information that he had represented Norris in the cases in which Norris was indicted for arson and perjury in 1912 and 1913, but a defense objection excluded this.

During a pause in the trial, Dr. Norris said his friends had informed him there might be a demonstration against him, and for that reason he supposed they had asked for the friendly guard.

Dr. T. C. Terrell, Fort Worth offered a bullet which he said had been found to have "animal matter" on it after examination in his laboratory. McLean dismissed the witness without disclosing the purpose of his testimony.

Both State and defense closed at this point. Attorneys agreed they would limit the argument to six hours for each side. The judge began to read his charge to the jury.

HEALTH NURSING DEPARTMENT MOVES OFFICE TO C. OF C.

The City Public Health office, which for the past five years has been located with the United Charities association office in the 200 block on West Collin street, moved its headquarters to the Chamber of Commerce building on West Fifth Avenue Saturday.

"The objective of the Public Health Board," said Miss Iva Jane Lytle, city public health nurse, Saturday, "is to improve the health of school children, and to keep them in a healthy condition." She said it also worked to bring the parents and school authorities to a more harmonious relationship. Miss Lytle inspects the school children every month finding the health defects that make them unhealthy and possibly causes the pupils to make failing grades.

Some of the children are found over-weight while others are found under-weight. Still others are found to have defective teeth, vision, hearing, throat trouble and other defects. Instructions are given each child with one or more of these defects, and constant attention is given these children to see that they follow instruction and to see if they are improving from the teaching.

The public health office makes the seventh division of public work to make its headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building. The others are: the Live Stock Inspector of the Federal Bureau of Live Stock Industry, Home Demonstration Agent, County Agent, Deputy Oil and Gas Supervisor, Foreman of the Highway Maintenance Department; and the Chamber of Commerce makes seven offices in the one building.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR ANDREW HUFF MONDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for Andrew Frenchie Huff, age 44 years, were held at the First Methodist church here Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. F. P. Culver. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery. Mr. Huff died in Dallas Sunday morning and the remains were brought here for burial.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Andrew Frenchie Jr.; his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Huff of Blooming Grove, three sisters Mrs. B. A. Wilson, Dallas; Mrs. George R. Mabry, Blooming Grove; Mrs. Maury B. Howard, Dallas; two brothers W. M. Huff, Corsicana and E. J. Huff, Blooming Grove.

The deceased lived at Blooming Grove a number of years and moved to Dallas where he entered partnership with B. A. Wilson in the Wilson Lime, Cone and Pecan Company and had resided there during the past six years.

In addition to the talk by Rev. F. P. Culver, B. A. Wilson partner and brother-in-law of the deceased made a short talk in which he enumerated the attributes of character of Mr. Huff and said that he never knew a more honest man, a more sincere man, a man so gentle, yet so courageous and kind; a man so obedient to his duties as a son, a man who was so solicitious for his sisters and a man with more love for his brothers. He declared that Mr. Huff was as true to his friends as to his relatives. No truer friendship, he added could be examplified in any man.

Following were the active pall bearers:

WEATHER SLOWS UP OPERATIONS LOCAL OIL TERRITORY

Bad weather making roads almost impassable caused a slump in oil field activities the past few days with some wells shutting down awaiting better weather.

The Sun Company Swink C-1, in the Richland field where a quarter bailer full of oil was bailed the latter part of the week at 4,840 feet, was among those reported shutdown.

Garland Kent's Hardy No. 9 was reported still making about 100 barrels a day. It was not learned whether the well had been put on the pump. The G. C. Kent K. Wolens No. 3 deep test in the south end of the Powell field cored sand at 3,301 feet Sunday night.

Texas Company's Cheney B-1, south of the Powell field, was drilling in hard lime Monday morning at 2,341 feet, it was learned at the Texas Company office.

Forty feet of ten inch surface casing was set on the Texas Company Pruitt No. 1 shallow well between Cryer Creek and Emhouse Saturday and drillers are now waiting for cement to harden.

Quite a bit of interest is being centered around the Ferdinand Heine well about two and a half miles south of Mabank, due to the fact that no chalk has been encountered at a depth of 2,850 feet Saturday at noon. It is generally thought that a couple of new locations will be made east of the well as geologists seem to think that the chalk will be found at about the proper depth by moving a few hundred feet east, and in all probability find a producing well.

The Protheroe et al Woodbine test on the Mrs. T. P. Little tract about three miles southwest of Corsicana, resumed drilling again Monday at the 1700 foot depth after having been shut down some time on account of a fishing job This well will be drilled to the Woodbine sands.

COMMISSIONS WERE PRESENTED MEMBERS SENIOR CLASS A. & M.

TWO CORSICANA BOYS GIVEN COMMISSIONS AS FIRST LIEUTENANTS

Special to the Sun:

College Station, Texas, Jan. 24.—Presentation of cadet corps commissions to 27. members of the senior class at the A. & M. College of Texas was made here Saturday morning by Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller, at ceremonies held in Guion Hall and presided over by President T. O. Walton. This represents the largest number of cadet commissions to be bestowed by the College at one time in the history of the institution.

Robert L. Edgar of Cleburne is the ranking cadet officer of the College, holding the rank of cadet colonel. Two seniors have the rank of lieutenant-colonel, these being R. A. Goodson of Jacksonville and G. A. Young of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Commissions were also presented to eight majors, thirty-six captains, 128 first lieutenants, and 97 second lieutenants. There commissions are bestowed by the College, and are not the O. R. C. commissions. Presentation of the O. R. C. commissions will be made at the Commencement exercises next June.

Whenever it is used, the Ford light delivery is the symbol of fast service. Built on the sturdy passenger car chassis, it carries its load at passenger car speed. Because it is light in weight it costs little for fuel and tires, and, being easy to operate can be entrusted to any driver. It costs less to buy than any other delivery unit, and the cost of maintaining fast delivery service is therefore correspondingly low. Body is of heavy steel and the cab, equipped with weather-proof curtains is comfortable at all seasons. Let us take out one of your regular loads for you and prove what a splendid outfit this is.

We'll gladly arrange this demonstration without cost or obligation. Just 'phone.

PARDON POLICY OF GOVERNOR RECEIVES HOT DENUNCIATION

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 21.—Scathing denunciation of the activities of James E Ferguson during the two-year gubernatorial term of his wife. Miriam A. Ferguson, is the dominant note of the report of the House investigating committee made public today.

The report was read Friday to the House in open and regular session by Sepresentative Lee Satterwhite of Amarillo, chairman of the investigating committee after an unsuccessful attempt by Representative Ruben Loftin to prevent its reading. Loftin pointed out the report would be printed and could be read by the members at their leisure. Loftin was Ferguson floor leader in the 39th Legislature.

After hearing the report, the House apparently was at a loss as to what to do with it. After some discussion, however, the view of Satterwhite and Teer that no action was needed, since no resolutions were made, prevailed and the report was ordered printed in the House Journal, subject to resolutions at any future time.

The committee of nine was named last fall at the special session of the 39th Legislature.

Governor Ferguson's liberal pardon policy was condemned. She granted 3,595 clemency acts.

"Not in the history of organized government of our beloved State has there been such a disgraceful disregard for the proper and just punishment of criminals, and the safeguard of the people, and property of this State, as has been shown by the Governor of Texas in the past two years by her indiscriminate and super-liberal pardoning policy," the report said.

All Testimony Not Obtained.

"We have not been able to obtain the testimony of all the witnesses summoned by this committee for the purpose of examing into the affairs, policies and acts of the chief executive of this State," the report said, explaining that the Court of Criminal Appeals had held a legislative committee without authority to punish for contempt.

"However, notwithstanding this failure to secure, as we believe much valuable information connected with the matters under investigation with reference to the executive office yet we believe that the testimony is sufficient to establish the fact that the power and prestige of the governor's office during the years 1925 and 1926 have been practically usurped and dictated by a private citizen, the husband of the governor, for political favoritism and financial gain and the fact that he was a private citizen has placed him beyond the pale of the law.

No Law to Reach Case.

"We therefore now have no law or laws to prohibit such usurpation of power by a private citizen. Otherwise, there is no doubt in our minds but that the investigations made by the grand juries of Travis county and by this committee would have resulted in the return of indictments for criminal offenses. It is our opinion, further, that the only recourse under our existing laws is by impeachment for the wrongs done to our State by the chief executive under the domination of her husband.

"The growing tendency for commercialization in State and Federal government, as well as in the minor divisions of our organized government, is appalling, and reflects upon integrity and justice of a free and independent people.

"No private individual should be permitted to usurp the powers and functions of the governor of the State, as no private individual should be granted, or permitted to exercise any special privileges when dealing with those in governmental authority. All should understand and know that they stand upon equal ground, and any attempt to sell or purchase political influence, and favoritism should meet with prompt and just punishment."

Satterwhite Reads Report.

The report was read by Representative Lee Satterwhite of Potter county, committee chairman Other members were Representatives Williamson of Bexar, Veach of Johnson, Teer of Williamson, Powell of Montgomery, Wallace of Freestone, Fly of Gonzales, Petsch of Gillespine, and Montgomery of Hidalgo.

"The first outstanding and bold effort to commercialize the governor's office came through what was generally known as the "good will" edition of the Ferguson Forum, a weekly newspaper, shown to have been then owned by James E. Ferguson, his wife, Miriam A Ferguson, his daughter, Mrs. Geo. S. Nalle, and Miss Dorrance Ferguson, also a daughter," the report said.

Money From Advertising.

The report declared the Fergusons realized thousands of dollars from Forum advertising, bought by road contractors, railroad corporations, oil companies, bankers public service corporations, and individuals.

"At the same time the Fergusons were obtaining money from the above named persons and corporations in the manner above shown, many of them were collecting thousands of dollars from the taxpayers of this State in the way of highway contracts, freights, etc," it said.

Concerning Mrs. Ferguson's clemency acts, the committee said. "We do not believe, and we think the testimony in the record will bear us out in saying that this policy cannot be charged to the feminine sympathy of a woman governor.

"The limited testimony secured from witnesses, and an examination of the records in the office of the Secretary of State show that practically all of the pardons granted were the result of recommendations by James E. Ferguson, who exercised the power and authority of governor of this State, in matters partaining to pardons, as well as all other matters."

Merits of Cases Not Involved.

The testimony shows that in the granting of these pardons that very little, if any, attention has been paid to the merit of the individual cases.

"In numerous cases, the pardons have been granted at the solicitation and request of attorneys who were favorite friends and political supporters of the Governor and her husband, and we believe that the evidence, taken as a whole, justifies us in saying that for the purpose of enabling the attorneys to collect fees."

Delving at length into highway affairs one of the main subjects of investigation, the report said that "testimony of numerous witnesses shows beyond a doubt that James E. Ferguson absolutely dominated the affairs of the Highway Commission while Frank Lanham, Joe Burkett and John Bickett constituted the commission."

Bickett was "exonerated" however from any blame in connection with various road contracts complained of.

The report continued that testimony of "numerous witnesses" showed that the Highway Commission, with aid and abetment of the chief executive of the State, "through her husband, a private citizen, wantonly, recklessly, and fraudulently dissipated millions of dollars of the highway funds."

Penitentiary System.

The committee declared it found the penitentiary system "hopelessly in debt," and estimated the total deficit to January 1, 1927, to be $605,518.28, while the amount required to operate the system from January 1, 1927, to September 1, 1927, was estimated at $874,000 placing the total estimated deficit September 1, 1927 at $1,489,518.28.

"We are further of the opinion and think that the testimony warrants us in saying that the penitentiary system of this State has been honey-combed with incompetency, graft and in many instances, plain theft," the committee reported.

The committee commended Chairman Sayle of the Prison Commission, saying he "has shown every effort and disposition to aid this committee in working out and ascertaining the true facts with reference to our penal system, and we believe that he has made a true and honest effort to discharge and that he has discharged the duties of his office with honor to himself and credit to the State."

Bell County Highway Decried.

The committee decried the building of the Bell county experimental road as another evidence of the "dominating influence" of James E. Ferguson as a heavy burden upon the Highway Commission.

Regarding the textbook situation the committee found that "most of those suggested by the husband of the Governor were named on the Text Book Commission.

"In the letting of contracts for spellers," the report continued, "the State Text Book Commission, dominated and controlled by James E. Ferguson, awarded to the American Book Company, a contract for spellers at a price higher than the same books can be bought at retail by private individuals."

SCHOOL FUND WILL BENEFIT IF MEASURE BECOMES STATUTE

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 21.—A bill to tax tobacco and its substitutes for four years beginning January 1, 1928, and direct the proceeds into the school fund was introduced in the House Friday, by Representatives Snellgrove, Veach, Graves, Holder and Farrar. The tax would be one cent on each ten cents of the retail price of cigarettes, cigars, "cheroots" and other forms of tobacco.

Lobby Probe Defeated.

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 21.—The Senate Friday defeated a bill by Tom Love of Dallas for restriction and investigation of lobbyists by a vote of 17 to 10. The proposed measure, in amended form providing for creation of a legislative committee to investigate in open session the actions of persons active in the defeat or passage, of any legislation was the storm center of debate.

GRADUATION FOR JUNIOR HIGH HELD FRIDAY MORNING

What was termed one of the most successful graduating exercises that Corsicana schools have known was held, starting at 10:30 today, when more than seventy students were awarded diplomas from the Junior High School and will on next Tuesday enter High School.

The invocation was given by Dr. Howard Williams, pastor of the First Baptist church. Then marching to music with Elizabeth Armstrong at the piano, the class marched to the platform. "Birds of the morning," a beautiful class song, sung by the members of the glee club, with Elizabeth Armstrong at the piano was sung, which showed much practice and painstaking. It was a decided honor for those singing and the teacher of music.

The salutatory address was made by Mary Elizabeth Boyd. Steady in poise, clear in voice, this little miss did both her class and herself proud. Not a bobble, a hesitation nor an embarassment came to her and her friends love her the more for her honors won and splendid use made of them.

A saxaphone solo, "Trusting Eyes" next number of the program was played by Roland Miranda, which was appreciated by the large audience very much.

David Yates then was heard in his masterful valedictory address, and he carried his audience through one surprise to another as he told the story of the Junior High and pointed the way to the next step in school life, High School. David was master of his situation at all times and his address received a lion's share of applause, many remarks being heard, "That was the best I have heard, "It was perfect," and many others.

Another song by the glee club was much appreciated by the splendid audience, and every evidence of the good work the glee club of the Junior High has been doing was shown by the members of the club.

C. G. Davidson, a member of the Schol Board, made a very interesting talk to the class—giving some good fatherly advice and stating his position on matters pertaining to the fair sex.

Perry McCammon, the popular president of the School Board, next came forward and after his usual humorous remarks, one of which was that he claimed to be under thirty yearst of age, gave out the diplomas in regulation form.

Then the invocation by Dr. Howard Williams.

O. F. Allen, principal of the Junior High School, presided at the exercises.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF NAVARRO COUNTY DIED HERE FRIDAY

Arthur H. Laverty, age about 65 years, died Friday afternoon about 2 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. Emma Vance, 1320 Elm avenue.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in Hamilton cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. O. D. Spence.

Mr. Laverty is one of the old settlers in this county and is well known.

He is survived by one son Vance Laverty of Corsicana, two sisters, Mrs. Emma Vance and Mrs. M. J. Williams and two brothers, J. E. Laverty of Carlsbad, New Mexico, and Mack Laverty of Sulphur Springs, Texas.

KERENS WILL HAVE NEW CITY HALL AND OTHER FACILITIES

Special to the Sun.

Kerens, Texas, Jan. 21.—The council Wednesday afternoon arranged for the issuance of city warrants in the amount of approximately $30,000, which money will be used in the erection of a new city hall, fire station, and to fund other indebtedness.

The original agreement for this purpose made some time ago did not go through, but the council feels now that these improvements are assured.

BASKETBALL TEAM OF BAYLOR VICTIM OF GRADE CROSSING TRAGEDY NEAR ROUND ROCK

By Associated Press.

Georgetown, Texas, Jan. 22.—Fourteen members of the basketball squad of Baylor University, Waco, were killed outright or died on their way to hospitals here today when their bus was hit by an International-Great Northern passenger train near Round Rock.

Eleven were killed outright and one died on the way to Georgetown and two just as they were being taken into a hospital here. Four members of the squad were so seriously injured they were not expected to live until they reach Taylor, where they were rushed for medical attention.

There were 21 persons in the bus. Four escaped with what were at first considered rather minor injuries.

By Associated Press.

Georgetown, Texas, Jan. 22.—William Winchester and Robert Hannah ,who were injured in the train accident at Round Rock today and brought to the hospital here, were dead when the ambulance reached here, and were taken to the Fredericks Undertaking parlors. These two were the only ones brought to this place, the others being carried on the train to the hospital at Taylor.

Eleven Killed Outright.

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 22.—Eleven members of the Baylor University basketball team of Waco, Texas, were killed, five probably fatally injured, and six less seriously hurt in a collision between an automobile bus and a fast passenger train of the International & Great Northern Railroad at Round Rock, 22 miles northeast of here today.

The statement of dead and wounded was issued here officially by Milton Morris, general agent for the railroad.

The bus carrying the basketball team was on the way from Waco to Austin, where Baylor was to play the University of Texas tonight.

Nurses and doctors were sent from Austin and Taylor, and at 1:10 p. m. the train which struck the automobile was being held to carry the wounded to Taylor, about 15 miles away. The nurses and doctors were held at Taylor to receive the wounded.

Mr. Morris said the fast Sunshine Special of his road, which left San Antonio this morning and the bus loaded with students crashed at an open crossing.

All Killed or Wounded.

All the occupants of the bus were either killed or wounded, according to Mr. Morris' information. The accident occurred at 11:45 a. m.

The fast train does not stop at the crossing where the accident happened, and railroad officials stated it probably was running very rapidly at this point.

Names of the dead and wounded were not available at the offices here at the time Morris made his announcement.

"It must have been a terrible accident," said Morris, "but our information now is rather meager

"The nurses and doctors are waiting at Taylor and the wounded will be cared for there. Our information is that five of the wounded cannot live until they arrive at Taylor."

Texas Players Go to Aid.

E. J. "Doc" Stewart, coach of the Texas University basketball team, and a number of his players left immediately for Round Rock to minister to the boys who were to have been their opponents in basketball.

I. K. Howeth of San Antonio saw the accident while driving the automobile immediately following the wrecked bus.

He said the bus driver apparently didn't see the rapidly approaching train, which was whistling, according to Howeth.

When the bus reached the track, the train was almost upon it, and the bus driver turned suddenly parallel and going in the same direction as the train.

The crash came almost instantly. The bus was splintered, the spare tires being thrown in all directions.

Bus Hit in Center.

The bus had gone thirty yards down the tracks when it was hit. The passengers occupy wicker chairs in the Baylor bus and those chairs were scattered in all directions. The locomotive hit the automobile in about the center.

The train stopped a short way down the track.

By the time the crew reached the wreck, four members of the basketball team had extricated themselves and were walking about the bus, some in an hysterical manner.

The dead were placed in the baggage car with the wounded and taken to Taylor, according to Howeth, who came on to Austin immediately.

List of Occupants of Bus.

By Associated Press.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 22.—Following is a list of members of the basketball squad and others who were in the bus which was struck by the Sunshine Special near Round Rock today:

Ralph Wolf, coach; Willis Murray, manager; Jack Castellaw, cub manager; Joe Potter, of West, Texas, cub, and driver of the car; Ed Gooch, freshman and assistant in the athletic department; Dave Shavens, sophomore and representative of the Baylor Lariat, and member of the team; Abe Kelley Bob Hannah, Bob Hailey, William Winchester, Sam Dillow, Louis Slade, Captain Jim Walker, John R. Kane, Cecil Dean, Gordon Berry, Keifer Strickland, Fred Acree, Weir Washam, William Bradshaw.

One Boy Jumped.

Howeth said that just as the crash came he saw one of the boys jump. He could assign no reason for the wreck. The road was slippery from rain.

Howeth said that parts of several bodies were caught in the cowcatcher of the locomotive.

Physicians at a Taylor hospital reported they were working desperately to save the life of one of the playrs brought here. They could not give his name.

The train reached Taylor at 1:55 o'clock, and the conductor made his report. The only names he knew were those of Abe Kelley and Bradshaw.

Kelley was all-Southwestern back during the 1926 football season, and captain-elect of the 1927 team.

Dead and Injured.

Report of the train conductor to officials of the I. & G. N. here showed only seven killed, five injured and ten uninjured and accounted for.

Those dead according to the conductor's report:

Ivey Foster, Jack Castellaw, Ed. Gooch, Bob Hailey, Sam Dillow Robert Hannah and Abe Kelley.

Injured: William Bradshaw William Winchester, Willis Murray, Merrill Dudley and J. F. Walker.

Uninjured: R. R. Wolf, the basketball coach; Louis Slade, Dave Shavens, Weir Washam, Cecil Bean, Keifer Strickland, Fred Acree, J R. Kane, J. G. Berry and Joe Potter.

The accident today which killed many members of the basketball squad of Baylor University calls to mind a train wreck in the edge of Indianapolis 22 or 23 years ago in which the larger part of the football team of Purdue University was killed.

The Purdue team was on its way to Indianapolis for its annual game with Indiana University. The train from LaFayette, Ind., carrying the football team and hundreds of Purdue rooters was running in two sections. In the railroad yards of Indianapolis one section crashedr into another train. The coach in which the majority of the football players were riding was telescoped the roof sliding back over the car behind. Few, if any, in the crushed coach escaped death or injury.

Coach Wolf Driver of Bus.

By Associated Press.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 22.—Joe Potter, of West, Texas, and freshman athlete at Baylor University, has been the official bus driver for the school since the fall opening in September. He has been considered a most careful driver.

However, it is understood here that Coach Ralph Wolf of the Bear basketball team was driving the bus at the time of the accident. This statement was reported by an eye witness to the accident at Round Rock, who stated that Wolf was uninjured, and was the driver of the car.

An Early Report.

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 22.—A telephone report to the Austin Statesman here Saturday from Round Rock said that eleven members of the Baylor University basketball squad from Waco were killed when their bus was struck by the International & Great Northern "Sunshine Special" near Round Rock.

The Baylor team was en route to Austin, where it was scheduled to meet the Texas University Longhorns Saturday night.

The informant of the Statesman said he saw the accident, and those not killed were injured.

Baylor University has a large bus in which all its athletic teams are transported on short trips.

Ralph Wolf, former Baylor University star, is coach of the basketball team. Some of the members are: Keifer Strickland, Sam Dillow, Fort Worth; Walker Gatesville; Slade, Waco; Hannah Winchester; Kelso.

Further telephone reports from a number of Round Rock persons declared "eleven men are dead or dying," but no names were available.

Ambulances were sent from Austin and from Taylor. Round Rock is about 24 miles from Austin, and about 15 miles from Taylor.

Stolen Accessories Found Near Frost

Blooming Grove, Jan. 22.—The entire merchandise amounting to about $75. in casings and other accessories which was taken from the Blooming Grove Filling Station several weeks ago was recovered in Frost by officers and returned Tuesday. F. E. Dickson of Frost located the merchandise under a vacant house near Frost.

Everything that was taken was found and in good condition. One new casing had been used but nothing else was disturbed.

William Campbell of Blooming Grove was a visitor in Corsicana Saturday morning.

KENT HARDY NO. 9 GOOD FOR 100 BBLS. ACCORDING REPORT

The G. C. Kent Hardy well No. 9, on the Kerens road east of Corsicana, the best shallow well of recent date came in Thursday night flowing over the casing, making an estimated average of 100 barrels a day. This was the report given by the driller in Mr. Kent's office Friday morning. This is by far the best well drilled on the Hardy lease. It came in at the depth of 1,656 feet. The well will be put on the pump immediately, it was stated.

Casing has been set on the Kent Hardy No. 10, below the 1,600 foot depth and will drill plug Saturday. It is thought that this well will also be a good producer as very good showings of oil have been found at this depth. All of the previous wells drilled on the Hardy lease are good producers for shallow wells, making from ten to forty barrels a day. Indications point that the new one will gauge from 80 to 100 barrels after being put on the pump.

Eastern Stars to Sponsor Delightful Entertainment at Y

The executive committee of the local Eastern Star Chapter has made definite announcement that plans have been perfected whereby Dr. and Mrs. Chas. R. Mitchell, who are quite prominent in the musical circles of Dallas, will be brought to the Y. M. C. A. here on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 1st.

The program Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell are to give is guaranteed to be equal to the best to be had on the Chautauqua platform or on Lyceum circuits. One of the aims of the Eastern Star in sponsoring this entertainment is to give the citizenship of Corsicana something they will be glad to have their children and friends attend. Every number will be of the highest character, yet without being in the least classed as "high-brow." There will positively be no jazz or vulgarity of any kind.

Dr. Mitchell possesses a pure baritone voice of wonderful beauty and appeal, and is also a reader and impersonator par excellence. At present he is the musical director and assistant pastor of the South Dallas Christian church.

Mrs. Mitchell, accompanist for her husband, is not only accredited with being a pianist of unusual attainment, but is a composer as well. She will contribute several piano solos to the program. She is now in her tenth year as organist at the Central Christian church in Dallas.

Both have had extensive experience in Chautauqua and Lyceum work and have lived in New York, California and Florida.

They are by no means strangers to Corsicana as Dr Mitchell has on two occasions been the musical director and soloist during revivals held in the First Christian church of this city. The many friends and admirers Dr. Mitchell attached to himself on these occasions are looking forward with much pleasure to his re-appearance here.

A program similar to the one to be given Feb. 1st was given here a few years back as a benefit for the Christian church and proved a splendid success in every particular.

With the following Eastern Star committees promoting the affair the chapter feels that the entertainment is already an assured success:

W. J. Rochelle is chairman of general arrangements with Mesdames W. W. Halbert, W. F. Senor, W. C. Van Hook and A. M. Blackburn on the decorating committee; W. M. Huff, Fred White, T. J. Walton and J. N. Parrish compose the advertising committee; Mrs. T. L. Tankersley is chairman of the reception committee; Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, publicity chairman; Bob Mitchell, tickets; and Rev. Paul J. Merrill will introduce the performers to the audience.

The local chapter can boast of one masculine member who is a staunch advocate of "woman's rights." He is Mr. J. Y. Stewart, chairman of the ushers for the evening. All suggestions that Dr. O. L. Smith, Jim Jackson, Claude Albritton, Clay Nash, Garland Kent or Cecil Foster might be glad to serve were literally wasted and Mr. Stewart reports his list as follows: Mrs. Tip De Armon, Mrs. Jimmie Lichlyter, Miss Mildred Walker and Miss Christine Woodring, one of the popular teachers in Emhouse.

Masters Billy Rochelle, James Paul Halbert and Robert and Randolph Mitchell have been named to distribute programs.

To help defray expenses and because the seating capacity of the "Y" is limited a nominal charge of fifty cents for adults and ten cents for children will be made.

LIMESTONE COUNTY TO SUE CONTRACTORS ON HIGHWAY WORK

Special to the Sun.

TEXAS BAPTISTS TO RAISE MILLION DOLLARS MARCH 15

By the Associated Press.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 22.—The 448,000 Baptists in Texas have set before themselves the task of raising $1,000,000 in cash by March 15, and an additional million dollars by September 1, to be used toward lifting the indebtedness of the denomination's ten colleges, six hospitals, state paper state board and care for their share of the indebtedness of the Southern Baptists boards.

Although the first check came from Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Etter, Sherman, Jan. 5, and was for $10,000, the campaign really got under way January 15.

A large number of leaders of the leaders of the church are engaged in the campaign and are serving without pay. H. L. Kokernot of San Antonio heads a commission of 500, acting as general chairman, and also as a member of the executive committee of twelve and the budget committee of five. Dr. George Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church of Dallas, has cancelled all other engagements, including a trip to China in order to be free to serve as general director of the campaign. State organization is under the direction of L. R. Scarborough of Southwestern Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, and Dr. J. M. Dawson of the First Baptist church, Waco, who was granted leave of absence from his church during the Seventy-five Million campaign to serve as publicity director, has again taken up the duties of that office.

Pat M. Neff, former governor, president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, Dr. F. S. Groner, general secretary, and many others are ex-officio members of the headquarters division.

The state has been divided into eighteen districts, each with an organizer assisted by organizers for the Sunday schools, Young Peoples societies and women's organizations. No quotas have been assigned, but an honor standard will be raised.

BELIEVED THREE MEN KILLED IN FIGHTING NEAR RIO GRANDE

By Associated Press.

Brownsville, Texas, Jan. 22.—Three Mexican smugglers are believed to have been killed, several wounded and H. B. O'Neill, border patrol officer, was shot through the leg in a pitched battle between four border patrol officers under command of Captain Marcus Hines of Mercedes, and a party of 15 or 20 smugglers on the Rio Grande, south of Mercedes. The battle occurred about 12 o'clock last night.

The officers were scouting along the river when they encountered a pack train, evidently loaded with smuggled liquor. They called upon the party to halt and were answered with gunfire. O'Neil being shot through the leg. The officers returned the fire, and several Mexicans and their mounts were observed to fall.

The smugglers maintained a heavy fire and one of the officers was detailed to take O'Neil to Mercedes and secure reinforcements. Following the slackening of the officers' fire the smugglers slowly withdrew toward the river, and eventually effected a crossing taking with them their dead and wounded.

The scouting party of border patrol officers consisted of Marcus Hines, H. B. O'Neil, Roy and Ed Harrell.

Reinforcements from various patrol stations in the valley were rushed to the scene as soon as news of the battle was received but the smugglers had succeeded in effecting their escape across the Rio Grande.

The wounded officer, H. B O'Neil is supervising inspector of customs with headquarters at Falfurrias.

MAILED FIST OF POWERS PREPARING FOR ANY EMERGENCY

By Associated Press.

Shanghai, Jan. 24.—The mailed fist as exemplified in the armed forces of Great Britain and Japan, thrust itself into the foreground of the Chinese situation today.

With additional reports of constantly spreading anti-foreign and anti-Christian agitation, and the success of negotiations for the return of foreign concessions to China undecided at Hankow, both powers made unmistakable military moves yesterday and today, which, however, were described as "merely precautionary measures."

From Hong Kong, the British dispatched three companies of Punjabi troops to Shanghai, while from the Sasebo naval station four Japanese destroyers departed for unannounced points in China.

In Hong Kong it was stated that the departure of the native Indian soldiers marked the commencement of the British quota for the defense of Shanghai, in accordance with an agreement with the United States, France and Japan, revealing for the first time that the powers had so completely considered the possibility of the foreign settlement being attacked that it had been decided how many men each power should supply for the defense of the concessions.

The dispatch of the Punjabi troops to Shanghai follows closely a distrubance here Saturday night, during which scores were injured when police of the international settlement battled with celebrating tramway strikers.

While the powers moved to guard their interests, reports indicated no let down in the Chinese determination to drive the foreigner from the country. In Canton Saturday night young native girls joined with the agitators, delivering Bolshevist speeches on street corners while bands of soldiers paraded with anti-foreign banners. Belated reports from Siangtan, approximately 300 miles inland, told of a huge anti-British demonstration there a week ago, during which the buildings of the Asiatic Petroleum company were burned.

Cruiser Leaves for Shanghai.

Hong Kong, Jan. 24.—The British cruiser Caradoc left for Shanghai today.

Dispatches from Macao stated that the scheduled departure of the Portuguese cruiser Republica for Shanghai has been postponed.

LITTLE GIRL DIES FROM BURNS; BODY SHIPPED TO TULSA

Marion Reed Ashley, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ashley, 1227 West Second Avenue, died at the Navarro County Hospital Sunday night at 10:30 o'clock and the body was forwarded to Tulsa, Okla., Monday afternoon at 4:25 o'clock. Funeral services will be held in Tulsa some time Tuesday. The remains will be placed in a mausoleum at Tulsa.

The little girl received serious burns about the body, face and arms one week ago Sunday night when her dress caught on fire while playing in front of a stove. At first, the burns were not thought to be serious.

Many beautiful flowers surrounded the casket of the little child at the Sutherland Undertaking Parlors Monday afternoon, which were sent by friends of the family. The flowers were reboxed and taken to Tulsa with the body.

Mr. Ashley is secretary and treasurer of the Federal Tank Company here, and is well known, especially in oil circles.

The family have been the recipients of much sympathy during the illness of this bright, little girl as a result of the burns received and a large number of close friends gathered at the Sutherland Undertaking Parlors during the day, where the body was prepared for shipment, and remained until taken to the train Monday afternoon.

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL.

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and married couples who had net income of $3,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period ends March 15, 1927.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the distrist in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on forms 1040A and 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? One and one-half per cent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemptions and credits. Three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Five per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

Your Income Tax.

No. 3

The normal tax rate under the revenue act of 1926 is 1 1-2 per cent on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption, credit for dependents, etc., 3 per cent on the next $4,000, and 5 per cent on the balance.

The surtax rates apply to net income in excess of $10,000, as in the revenue act of 1924. The maximum rate, however, under the 1926 act, is reduced to 20 per cent, which applies to net income in excess of $100,000, instead of a maximum of 40 per cent on net income in excess of $500,000, as was provided by the 1924 act.

The exemptions are $1,500 for single persons, and $3,500 for married persons living together, and heads of families. In addition a taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each person dependent upon him for chief suport if such person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective. Such dependent need not be a relative of the taxpayer nor a member of his household. The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only cripples and those mentally defective but persons in ill health and the aged.

A taxpayer, though unmarried, who supports in his home one or more relatives over whom he exercises family control, is the head of a family and entitled to the same exemption allowed a married person. Also he may claim $400 for each dependent. For example, a widower who supports in his home an aged mother and daughter 17 years old is entitled to an exemption of $3,500 as the head of a family, plus a credit of $400 for each dependent, a total of $4,300. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to the wife or husband of a taxpayer, though one may be totally dependent upon the other.

Anomalous as it may seem, a person may be married and yet single for the purposes of the income-tax law. To be allowed an exemption of $3,500, a married couple must have "lived together," in the eyes of the law, for the entire taxable year. However, in the absence of continuous residence together, the question of whether man and wife are living together depends upon the character of the separation. If, occasionally, the husband is away on business, or if, for any necessary reason a temporary separation exists, the full exemption is allowed. The presence of a wife at a sanitarium, or her unavoidable absence because of ill-health does not change their status, and the full exemption is allowed the husband. But when the husband deliberately and continuously makes his home at one place and the wife at another, they are classed as single persons, and each is allowed an exemption of $1,500 only.

In the absence of continuous actual resilence together, whether a person with dependent relatives is the head of a family, and therefore entitled to an exemption of $3,500, also depends upon the character of the separation. If a father is away on business, or a child or other dependent away at school or on a visit, the common home being maintained, the exemption applies. If a parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere, the exemption may still apply. But if benefactor and dependent needlessly and continuously live apart, the status of the head of a family does not exist, irrespective of the support given.

No. 5.

The revenue act of 1926 provides that if the status of a taxpayer changes during the year his personal exemption shall be determined by apportionment, in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married, or the head of a family. The act of 1924 contained a similar provision.

For example, a couple married on July 31, 1926, and living together on December 31, 1926, may file a joint return and claim an exemption of $3,208.33. That is seven-twelfths of $1,500 for the husband while single, or $875, plus seven-twelfths of $1,500 for the wife while single, plus five-twelfths of $3,500 or $1,458.33 for the period during which they were married. If separate returns are made husband and wife may each claim a personal exemption of $1,604.17. The husband is entitled to seven-twelfths of $1,500, or $875, for the period during which he was single and one-half of five-twelfths of $3,500, or $729.17, for the period during which he was married. The wife is entitled to similar exemptions. In case separate returns are filed, the joint exemption of $1,458.33 for the period during which they were married may be taken either by husband or wife, or divided between them.

A person who, on July 31, ceased being the head of a family—the support in one household of a relative or relatives being discontinued—is entitled to an exemption of $2,666.67, which is seven-twelfths of $3,500, plus five-twelfths of $1,500.

With regard to the $400 credit for each dependent, the taxpayer's status as of the last day of the taxable year determines this credit. If, during the year, his support of such dependent ceased, he is not entitled to this credit.

No. 6

Of the millions of taxpayers who file returns for the year 1926, the vast majority are entitled, in addition to the personal exemptions of $3,500 for married persons and heads of families, $1,500 for single persons, and a $400 credit for each dependent, to a further credit of 25 per cent of the tax on their earned net income. Correctly to compute this credit, the taxpayer first must compute the amount of tax which would be payable without the earned income credit. From the amount of the tax, 25 per cent is to be dedutced, the balance being the amount of tax due.

In the allowance of the 25 per cent credit, the surtax was taken into consideration for the first time under the revenue act of 1926. The maximum amount which may be claimed as earned income is increased from 10,000 to 20,000. Earned income is defined as "wages, salaries, professional fees, and other amounts received as compensation for personal services actually rendered."

However, all net income up to $5,000, whether actually earned or not, is considered earned income for the purpose of the 25 per cent credit. A taxpayer may have received in 1926 a salary of $2,400 and from a real estate transaction, or sale of stock, a net profit of $2,600. Nevertheless, the entire $5,000 is considered as earned income, and the tax payable by a taxpayer, unmarried and with no dependents, in such case is computed as follows:

Net income	$5,000
Less personal exemption	1,500
Balance taxable at 1 1-2 per cent	3,500
1 1-2 per cent of $3,500	52.50
Less 1-4 of $52.50, earned income credit	13.13
Balance of tax payable	39.37

Other examples showing how to compute correctly the earned income credit will be given.

No. 7

All net income up to $5,000, whether actually earned or not, is considered earned net income for the purpose of computing the 25 per credit on such income. Hundreds of returns are received showing net income in excess of $5,000, part of which was earned income—from salary, wages, professional fees, etc.—and part of which was not earned. Following is an example of how to compute correctly the tax due on such a return:

A taxpayer, married and with no dependents, received in 1926 a salary of $4,000 and from a real-estate transaction made a net profit of $4,000. His personal exemption is $3,500. The tax rate is 1 1-2 per cent on the first $4,000, in excess of such exemption and 3 per cent on the remainder:

Net income	$8,000
Less personal exemption	3,500
Balance, taxable income	4,500
1 1-2 per cent on first $4,000	60
3 per cent on the remaining $500	15
Total tax	75

But of the $8,000 net income $5,000 is considered as earned net income. From $5,000, therefore, is deducted the personal exemption of $3,500, the tax on the remaining $1,500, at 1 1-2 per cent, amounting to $22.50. Deduct one-fourth of $22.50, or $5.63, from $75 leaving payable a tax of $69.37.

Economy

To be economical and search the markets for the best is natural. But where will you find the best values? Not in cheapness — that is false economy. Search the market for service, and when you have found it, at a fair price — you have found all there is to be had. Our service is rendered in such a way, our prices are so moderate, for the high class work we do that the discriminating man or woman can't afford not to allow us to do their work.

PALE & PEAKED

Texas Lady Was Advised by Her Mother To Take Cardui, Which She Did With Good Results.

Hamilton, Texas.—Mrs. Gladys Poitevint, of this city, says: "At times I suffered awfully with pains across my back and through my sides. I would have to go to bed and stay two or three days at a time. It was very worrisome. I managed to keep going, but . . . did not enjoy myself at all.

"One day my mother remarked on how bad I looked. She said: 'You look so pale and peaked, why don't you take a bottle of Cardui?' She had taken it herself a number of times, and it had always improved her health, so she thought I had better try it.

"I got the Cardui and began taking it, and from the first dose or two I could see a change for the better. The first thing I noticed was that my appetite was improved. I began to be hungry and I enjoyed my meals. I slept better at night. My rest was so much quieter that I got the benefit from it. I kept on with the Cardui and took it for several months. The pains in my back and sides grew less until they finally quit bothering me."

Try Cardui for your case. At all drug stores. NC-170

SHOWING OF OIL DISCOVERED TODAY IN TRINITY TEST

Hopes were revived and interest renewed in the Sun Company Swink C-1 in the Richland field Saturday when a bailer one-fourth full of oil was brought out at 4,840 feet. The sand was only a narrow strip and they are now drilling on through to the Trinity sand, which is believed by geologists to be approximately 400 feet deeper which will be around the 5,200 foot depth. This is the deepest well drilled in Navarro county thus far and it is believed that the pay sand will be found within the 400 feet. Other wells have been drilled to the Trinity sand, it was stated, but it was found at a shallower depth.

No report had been received at the G. C. Kent office Saturday at noon as to the production of the Hardy No. 9, which came in Thursday night flowing over the casing with an estimated average of 100 barrels a day. Mr. Kent, who was at the well Friday afternoon, stated they were to start bailing Friday night and he thought the well would be put on the pump Saturday. The Hardy No. 10, another good potential shallow well, was to drill plug Saturday.

The Texas Company Pruitt No 1, between Cryer Creek and Emhouse on an approximate 1,500 acre tract was to be spudded in Saturday, it was learned at the Texas Company office Saturday afternoon. This well is in an unexplored region which from a geological report bids fair to be a good shallow field. Acreage was reported selling for good prices near by for protection by major companies as well as to individuals

The Texas Company Cheney B-1 south of the Powell field, was drilling in sandy shale Saturday morning when the night crew came off duty at a depth of 2,031 feet.

HOUSE AND SENATE IDLE; COMMITTEES BUSY, HOWEVER

By The Associated Press.

Austin, Texas., Jan. 22.—Both House and Senate were "off for the day" Saturday as regards regular assembly, but a majority of the legislators were tied in committee meeting. House committees just getting organized, have not gotten around to any of the bills expected to kick up dust. Among them are two cotton acreage regulation measures, a few oil tax measures, and possibly some of the educational bills.

DECEMBER WEATHER IN TEXAS THIS YEAR PLACED AS NORMAL

By the Associated Press.

Houston, Texas, Jan. 22.—December weather, says L. H. Daingerfield, government metrologist, who has just finished compiling data for the last month in the year in Texas, was normal with a monthly mean of 49.8 degrees.

Meanwhile he notes that summer weather prevailed at Mission for one day at least when the thermometer rose to 89 on the fourth. The other extreme was 3 degrees above zero at Lubbock on December 25. Stephenville appears in the record as the point with the greatest daily range where the thermometer fell 54 degrees on the fourteenth.

More rain fell in December than usual, it appears from Mr. Daingerfield's figures. Records at 209 stations show the average was 4.09 inches which was 1.93 inches greater than the state normal. Most rain fell at Rockland, where the precipitation for the month was 11.60 inches. Heaviest rain in any one day was 4.74 inches at Jefferson on the twenty-first.

Considerable snow, it is shown, fell during the month in the vicinity of Romero which holds the state record with a total of 10 inches.

Eleven December days were clear, 14 were cloudy and six were partly cloudy. The prevailing direction of the wind was from the north and it reached its greatest velocity at Dallas on the twelfth when it blew 48 miles per hour.

Truck Load Furniture Destroyed By Fire

Fire destroyed a truck load of furniture A. J. Tyner of Roane was hauling to Houston one day this week. He was just below Bremond when he discovered the fire in the furniture. He stated that he did not know how the fire started. He managed to save the chasis of the truck.

Mr. Tyner stated that he had picked up some negroes who smoked as they were traveling and he thinks some fire from the cigarettes might have blown back into the furniture.

MISUNDERSTANDING CLAIMED REGARDING INAUGURAL BALL BIDS

Corsicana, Texas, Jan. 20, 1927.

To the Corsicana Daily Sun:

So many loyal Dan Moody men and women have asked me since my return from Austin about why it was that they did not receive invitations to the inauguration and inaugural ball, and since there seems to be a misunderstanding about the invitations, I would like to make this statement relative thereto.

Mr. Moody did not send out any invitations except a general invitation to all of his friends. This general invitation appeared in all the State papers. In this invitation thus given, he stated that it would have been impossible for him to have mailed out, or had mailed out invitations to all of his friends and supporters to whom he was so grateful.

In the Daily Sun of last Tuesday there appeared a list of names of persons in and around Corsicana who, it was stated, had been sent invitations to the inaugural ball. I am informed by the Daily Sun that this list of names was secured from a thoroughly reliable source.

In looking over this list I find that my name and that of Mrs. Jester appeared thereon. As a matter of fact I did not receive any invitation until I got to Austin. There I received one from an Austin friend and later Senator Julian Greer gave me one. Senator Greer told me that several days previous he had written me a letter advising me that he was holding an invitation for me. He stated that he had written a number of his Corsicana and Navarro county friends a similar letter, as he could not send invitations because of having a limited number allotted to him The list that appeared in Tuesday's Daily Sun was perhaps a mailing list of Senator Greer's for Corsicana.

Representative Wassell in Corsicana also had a limited number of invitations to distribute and he phoned numerous of his friends and friends of Mr. Moody before he left for Austin, stating that he had them for distribution. Representative Wassell gave several of the invitations before he left for Austin.

Since so many loyal Moody men and women were not named in the list appearing in Tuesday's paper and as it might be felt by some of them that they had been overlooked by the Governor-elect, and believing that they are entitled to this explanation, I herewith submit this to you with the request that you publish this in an early issue of your paper.

Yours most respectfully,
BEAUFORD JESTER.

Editor's Note—Regarding the above it is only necessary to refer to Monday's Daily Sun, where the statement from Austin was featured that Gov. Dan Moody had not and would not sent out invitations to the inaugural ball, but issued a blanket invitation to his friends The explanation preceding the list of names published in Tuesday's Sun did not state that the invitations came from Gov. Moody. The list was handed to a Sun reporter by a man high in local Democratic circles and it is felt that the list was perfectly reliable.

FOR WORKING PEOPLE.

NORRIS DEFENSE ATTEMPTS IMPEACH STATE'S WITNESSES

By Associated Press.

Court Room, Austin, Texas, Jan. 22.—State's testimony in the Dr. J. Frank Norris murder trial was concluded here today at 11:25 a. m. Prosecutors announced "State rests," after a recess during which additional State witnesses were interviewed.

The defense at once placed or the stand a number of witnesses in super-rebuttal in an effort to impeach the testimony of several State witnesses.

A young school teacher, Miss Melba Bullock, who now resides in Birdsville, near Fort Worth, but formerly lived in Fort Worth, was the State's chief witness today.

She arrived at the First Baptist church in Fort Worth just a few minutes after D. E. Chipps was shot by Norris. She testified to the general effect that Norris was calm after the killing.

C. D. Rogers testified that H. H. Rains had told him a few minutes after the shooting that Norris had remarked "I've killed me a man."

Arguments are to begin Monday.

The defense asked a delay to permit the arrival of two witnesses coming by automobile from Fort Worth.

Court adjourned with the understanding it would reconvene at 4 p. m. if the witnesses had arrived. Judge James R. Hamilton announced there would be a night session if the witnesses had not arrived by that time.

Court and attorneys were to confer during the afternoon.

Woman's Testimony Read.

By Associated Press.

Court Room, Austin, Texas, Jan. 22.—The Norris murder trial was resumed here today with Attorney Sam Sayers of the prosecution reading testimony of Mrs. Fannie Greer, given before the Tarrant county grand jury.

Mrs. Greer was the switchboard operator at the Westbrook Hotel who made the telephone connection when D. E. Chipps called Dr. J. Frank Norris a short time before Chipps was killed by Norris. She testified for the defense this week stating that Chipps cursed Norris over the phone.

The grand jury testimony shows that Mrs. Greer told the grand jury there was no cursing of any kind by Chipps over the telephone. The testimony also said that Norris told Chipps "I can wait two hours and thirty minutes" when Chipps asked him to wait in his church office 30 minutes. Norris denied on the stand that he made this remark.

Mr. Sayers next read a portion of the grand jury testimony of Lea A. Grevenberg in which the latter stated he asked Mrs. Greer if Chipps had cursed and Mrs. Greer replied, "No, he didn't." Grevenberg was at that time clerk at the Westbrook.

This testimony was read by the State in an effort to impeach defense witnesses.

School Teacher Testifies.

Miss Melba Bullock, school teacher of Fort Worth, was called by the State. She formerly was a member of the First Baptist church of which Dr. Norris is pastor, but changed her membership to the Baptist church at Birdwell, near Fort Worth, where she teaches Her parents are members of Norris' church.

She was in the Norris church office, having gone there for some music, when Chipps was killed.

Examination of the witness was conducted by District Attorney Jesse Martin of Fort Worth. Up to this time the State's case had been conducted in chief by Special Prosecutor William McLean. Miss Bullock said as she started up the stairway she heard some one coming down and paused to let them pass. One was Carl Glaze, a boy, whose parents are members of Norris' church. There was another boy immediately behind Carl, but she was unable to identify him. The boys were running.

Miss Bullock said she saw Dr. Norris standing in the doorway leading from the ante-room into the entrance hall. He was talking to a man whom she did not know.

"Dr. Norris asked me what he could do for me, and I told him I had come for the music. He turned and told Miss Jane Hartwell to get the music. At that time, I didn't know there had been a killing. The door to Dr. Norris' private office was closed."

"Did Norris appear as usual?"

"He talked as usual and was as polite and considerate as he always is."

Miss Bullock testified she saw a spot of blood in the ante-room showing the location to the jury by pointing to the wooden model of the church office building.

Miss Bullock testified she had been in the offices some time and had obtained the sheet of music before she knew what had occurred. Her first knowledge of the shooting came when Norris' office door opened and she saw Chipps on the floor.

The State was attempting to show that everything appeared as usual in the Norris office just after the shooting.

Miss Bullock said she did not see an elderly woman come down the stairway as she was going up She testified she did not hear Dr. Norris say "I've killed me a man.

C. D. Rogers of Dallas, formerly of Fort Worth, testified he worked for the Moore Rubber Company just below Norris' office and heard the shots that killed Chipps. He went up to the church offices, where he saw H. H. Raines, who also worked for the Moore Rubber Company. He saw Norris coming out of his office door and "he seemed to be arranging his coat as though putting it on." Raines a few minutes after the killing told Rogers that Norris had said, "I've killed me a man," the witness testified.

Rogers said Norris wore a gray suit. Norris testified he had on a blue suit at the time of the killing.

UNITED STATES IS TAKING PRECAUTIONS PROTECT NATIONALS

By Associated Press.

Washington, Jan. 22.—While Americans and other foreigners in China are retreating in increasing numbers from the zones of danger created by anti-Christian disturbances, several arms of the United States government are reaching out to afford its Nationals protection against further serious outbreaks

A detachment of American Marines is en route from Guam to the Philippine Islands to await possible emergency calls. American Minister McMurray is back-tracking to Peking, his trip to Washington having been cancelled by Secretary Kellogg, and a destroyer is rushin from Shanghai to Foochow to take the place of the Pillsbury which has taken more than sixty American refugees, mostly women and children, from that disturbed area to Manila.

Admiral Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet, now at Shanghai with his flagship, the cruiser Pittsburgh, reports the evacuation of Americans and other foreigners from interior Chinese cities is progressing rapidly, while Peking news advices tell of 1,000 Americans and British leaving Hankow where the British concession was stormed early last month and its administration taken over by the Nationalist government authorities.

Secretary Kellogg's action in ordering Minister MacMurray back to Peking after he had reached a Korean point on his way to Washington to talk over the Chinese situation, was explained at the White House as being due to the necessity for strengthening means of protection for Americans should disorders threatening their lives occur.

President Coolidge doubts that the Central government at Peking is in a position to guarantee full protection to foreigners, in view of the recent developments in that country, where there are a conglomeration of factions contending for power.

Situation More Serious.

London, Jan. 22.—Notwithstanding the hopeful tone of the Foreign Office as regards the situation in China, some of the morning newspapers believe the outlook is more serious than in recent days. This is mainly because of cabled reports that the United States government is anxious over China affairs and the confirmation the American minister at Peking MacMurray had started for Washington, was ordered to return to his post.

The assumption of the press seems to be that if Washington is gravely concerned there must be ground for anxiety which is not known to the general public here.

The British government has issued no statement except that of yesterday, deprecating "sensational announcements" relative to the precautionary military and naval measures being taken, and saying that there has been no modification of the conciliatory attitude adopted toward the legitimate aspirations of Chinese nationals.

Nevertheless the fact the cabinet was called together yesterday to discuss China, is supposed by some commentators to indicate the receipt of important late news.

Rioting in Shanghai.

By Associated Press.

Shanghai, Jan. 22.—Rioting broke out in Shanghai, principally among refugee foreigners, during a parade of conductors and motormen of the Municipal Tramway Company tonight, but was put down by the police of the international settlement with only a score or more of injuries to the tramway workers and a few bruises among the officers participating.

None of the injuries was serious.

TIMBER WOLVES ARE CAUSING MUCH LOSS IN EAST NAVARRO

Special to the Sun.

Kerens, Texas, Jan. 22.—Reports coming in from farmers and ranchers in the eastern portion of Navarro county say that in the past several months they have suffered much loss in turkeys, goats and sheep from the timber wolves which are roaming the "Pillow" hills, four miles east of Kerens.

The hide of a young grey wolf is now on display at Walker & Thompson's feed store, which was caught by a trapper in that section several days ago.

J. W. Speed reports that he has lost a large number of goats which have been killed by these varmints, and that he has sold his sheep on account of the destructive pests. Trappers are busy in the hills trying to eradicate and wolves, while the sheep and goat ranchers are experiencing no peace while the wolves are ravaging the hills in search of their favorite food.

The howls of these animals are heard each night by the settlers in this section which is making them more determined to rid temselves of these unwelcome thieves.

The groom is a brother of Elmer Norton of Kerens, a prominent farmer of this community. He was reared here.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton will reside on a ranch near Coleman owned by W. H. Finley of Kerens.

EXHIBIT WILL BE A FEATURE CONVENTION OF SUPERINTENDENTS

Special to the Sun.

Washington, Jan. 22.—One of the most noteworthy features of the fifty-second annual convention of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, at Dallas, February 26 to March 3, is the Exhibit.

The exhibit this year is the largest ever presented to the educational administrators of the country. It will be housed in the Automobile and Manufacturers' Building, Fair Park, which provides 92,000 square feet of floor space. There will be 210 technical units in the exhibit, in addition to those devoted to education, architecture, and other subjects.

The Educational Exhibit, which occupies about 20,00 square feet of wall space, is under the direct supervision of the Department of Superintendence, and is being arranged by W. H. Vogel of Cincinnati, who has been active in the arrangement of the department's educational and building exhibits in recent years.

Architects from all over the country have been invited to contribute sketches for the architectural exhibit, which covers 1000 feet of wall space. The best of these will be selected by a committee appointed by Supt. Randall J. Condon, president of the department. This also will show the finest school buildings throughout the country.

In connection with the technical exhibit there will be a demonstration room where films, projection machines, musical instruments, etc., will be shown the visiting delegates and where methods of teaching sewing, typing and the like will be demonstrated.

An important feature will be a daily newspaper printed in the hall, and edited by the pupils of Dallas classes in journalism. Official notices will be printed in this paper.

Rheumatism can't be rubbed away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S.S.S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
